24 DEATH TOLL IN TORNADO

Comment by Chester H. Rowell.

"BROTHER CHARLEY" — LINCOLN, Neb., March 12.—Meet "Brother Charley"—in other words, Charles W. Bryan, Governor of Nebraska. To the outside world he is merely W. J. Bryan's brother, of whose existence most people first heard, if they noticed it at all, when he was elected governor of Nebraska.

But to Nebraskans he is a very real and very individual personage, more intimately known than his famous brother, who is now not even a legal resident of Nebraska, and for many years has spent only a small part of his time here. "Charley," on the other hand, has been on the job all the time—and that job was doing politics every minute.

In manner and personality, the only thing the two brothers have strikingly in common is their extreme democracy. And "Charley" handles that the more naturally. In his obscurer days, he ran a cigar store in Omaha, and he still has the early informality of the cigar counter.

If his secretary is using the governor's office, he will quite naturally take the secretary's desk, outside; or he will sit at or on his own desk and talk to you with his hat on, quite as a matter of course. His attitude, his gestures, his manner and his mental processes are less elaborate and his conversation less sententious than is the case with his more famous brother. He does not have to pose as one of the people. He just is one of them.

And yet, in fundamental philosophy of life, in sympathy with the viewpoint of the obscure, it would not be a far guess that the "Great Commoner" is the more democratic of the two.

In appearance, Governor Bryan is round-faced, with a bristly gray mustache and bright alert eyes that miss nothing. He is quick and informal in speech, with none of the oratorical touch; but he knows expertly how to "sell" an idea to a crowd. Though a temperate man, of strictly correct habits and principles, he is not of the Puritan type, is not an active church member. He is a strictly practical politician, who likes the game and plays it expertly. He has been his brother's adviser, in the whole organization aspect of politics, and the active manager of his contests in Nebraska.

When William J. Bryan came out of the "cross of gold" campaign of 1896, he found himself with not much left of the election except a pile of 186,000 unanswered letters and telegrams. Determined to answer them all, he brought Brother Charley up from his Omaha cigar stand and made him his letter-answering secretary. Charley organized a corps of stenographers, and in the course of a year and a half they got the big job done. By this time, Charley was in touch, personally or by correspondence, with every important Democratic politician in the country, and he has been deep in the political game ever since.

When the "Commoner" was started, Brother Charley became its manager and he still runs it, with a large staff, part of whose duties are journalistic and the rest political. "W. J." from Florida or wherever he may be, sends in signed articles, but otherwise has no direct hand in getting out the paper.

Incidentally there is an advertising manager who evidently does not share the idealism of the editorial department. His advertising consists largely of exceedingly doubtful quack medicines and still more doubtful "business opportunity" and "earn money in your spare time" fakes. Advertisement of Bryan's book "In His Name," is sandwiched in between an instantaneous epilepsy cure and a sure grower of hair on bald heads; while Bryan's Bible talk is the "pure reading matter alongside" somebody's cure-all radium pads. However, this is aside from the story—and the "Commoner" is no worse in this respect than some religious papers.

From 1901, when the "Commoner" was founded, until 1916, Charles W. Bryan was constantly in politics, in Nebraska, and behind the scenes in his brother's national campaign, but never in office. Then, in 1916, he was elected mayor of Lincoln, and two years later a city commissioner. He claimed to have been entitled to the mayorality the second time, having filed, though without charter authority) for that office, and having received the highest vote of any commissioner. However, his fellow-commissioners overruled him and he was made commissioner of streets and alleys.

Nevertheless, he tossed the job both times, and put through, by picturesque methods, a municipal coal yard, to supply coal to the people at a low rate during the period of scarcity and high prices. His fellow-commissioners did not favor the bill, so he got signatures enough to petitions to recall them, kept the petitions in his pocket, and used them as a big stick to see that they voted right. He also used a petition for a municipal ice plant as a big stick to drive down the price of ice by the existing ice company.

Malicious enemies do say that he got both these ideas from Omaha, where a municipal coal yard and ice plant were already in actual operation. Anyhow, he did get the political thunder, and when the campaign of 1922 came on, had no trouble winning the Democratic nomination for governor.

The Republican gubernatorial candidate, Congressman Randall, a banker and a conservative, was

Government In Secret Move to Win British Support, Report

7 CITIZENS SLAIN IN REPRISAL DRIVE

Murderers of French Officials Reported Killed By Soldiers

(By United Press Leased Wire)

BERLIN, March 12.—While the German government was understood to have secret peace feelers out and to be willing to resume reparations payments on a "reasonable basis," provided international aid was granted, events in the Ruhr grew a hundredfold worse today with the killing of at least seven Germans and two French officials and numerous clashes.

Germany is not at present inclined to name any definite sum she is willing to pay, preferring to have an international commission fix the amount.

Following the murder of Lieutenant Coltin and M. Joly, French officials near Buer, Saturday night, France indignantly imposed severe reprisal measures upon the district and both Premier Poincare and War Minister Maginot promised vengeance.

The German government evades use of the term "negotiations" in connection with the peace feelers sent out as the situation in the occupied areas was intensified through the assassination of the French officials. But this new development and the attitude of the Socialists has led the government to make known in an unofficial and roundabout way that its attitude is not as adamant as last week.

It is understood from an authoritative source to be doubtful if the amount Germany will agree to pay will exceed by much the offer made to the allied premiers at Paris by Dr. Bergmann.

Germany is looking toward Britain for intervention or assistance in the negotiations, it is understood, and it is stated the next few days may see interesting developments.

ALLEGED ASSASSINS SLAIN BY FRENCH SOLDIERS.

DUSSELDORF, March 12.—Seven Germans, two believed to be the assassins of Lieutenant Coltin and M. Joly, were shot and killed today by French troops at Buer, according to dispatches from that city.

The two Germans suspected of having been implicated in the murder of the French officials Saturday night, were arrested. They attempted to escape. Gendarmes shot them dead.

A big crowd then assembled in front of the police station and threatened to storm it. French troops ordered the mob away. It refused to disperse, whereupon the soldiers opened fire, killing five Germans.

THREE GERMANS KILLED DEFYING CURFEW ORDER

BERLIN, March 12. — Three Germans, accused by the French of disobeying the curfew order were shot dead by sentries at Buer last night, according to reports reaching here today from the town where two French officials were slain Saturday night.

FLYER KILLED WHEN MOVIE PLANE FALLS

MONTEREY, Calif., March 12.—Chester Williams was killed and Harvey Pugh, aviator, was severely injured yesterday when their airplane fell at Pebble Beach, near here.

They were making a flight in connection with the filming of a picture for a movie company, in which Gloria Swanson was being starred. Miss Swanson witnessed the crash.

MOUNT LASSEN ACTIVE.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 12. — Mount Lassen, California's volcano, was in a state of mild eruption yesterday, according to telegrams received here from the vicinity of the mountain.

Winter Wheat Farmers Predict Big Crop As Snow Covers Fields

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Mar. 12.—A million dollar blanket of snow covered the southwest today.

Rain, followed by snow yesterday and today from Missouri to Texas increased the value of the winter wheat and other crops nearly a million dollars, experts declared today.

The storm, however, paralyzed wire communications and seriously interfered with railroad traffic.

The rain, moistening an area estimated at 250,000 square miles in the wheat-growing section, was heralded by farmers as a boon to the 1923 crop while the snow, which followed the downpour, formed a protecting covering against the resultant drop in temperature.

BUILDS PIT FOR BODIES OF VICTIMS

Police Find Remains of Two Women in Death Vault When Child Escapes, Gives Alarm.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., March 12.—Police today are investigating a concrete-lined death-pit, eight feet deep, fitted with gas jets and shelves, in which they found the mutilated bodies of Mrs. Wilhelmina Silva and her mother, Mrs. Mary Rames.

Beside the pit was Emanuel Silva, suffering from wounds, which the police said he inflicted after beating his wife to death with a mallet and virtually decapitating his mother-in-law with a knife.

Emma, Silva's fourteen-year-old daughter, who leaped from the window of her room as her father broke down the door, gave the alarm.

Police said Silva had been building the "chamber" for months.

MARCH 21 DATE CONGRESSMEN VISIT HERE

Santa Ana will entertain the congressional party of forty persons Wednesday afternoon and evening, March 21, J. C. Metzgar, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, announced today.

"The party will remain here overnight," Metzgar said. "Members of the party at present are on their way across the continent, according to their itinerary, which includes a trip into Imperial valley, San Diego, Riverside and Los Angeles.

"It was in a great measure due to the efforts of Congressman Phil D. Swing and Frank Wiggins, secretary of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, that we of Santa Ana were able to arrange for a visit of the party here.

"We plan to take the congressmen to Newport harbor and convince them of the logic of our argument for its development.

"The San Diego train bringing the party from San Diego here arrives at 3:25 p. m.

"Following the trip to the harbor, dinner will be served either at the Newport Harbor Yacht club or at St. Ann's Inn. Definite arrangements have not been made.

"Accommodations will be supplied the party for the overnight stay here, and transportation for its members to Los Angeles the following morning."

BAIL OF PILOT LATE IN COURT FORFEITED

When George Neal, colored, scheduled to appear before Justice J. B. Cox at 10 a. m. today on charges of reckless driving, failed to appear until 11:30 a. m., after all the witnesses had been dismissed, the court threw the charges out of court and forfeited his $100 bail.

Neal was scheduled to undergo trial as a result of a collision of an automobile which he was driving, with a post at Orange several weeks ago.

FILE TITLE ACTION.

Lot 16, in the McFadden-Wilson addition to Santa Ana, was involved in a suit to quiet title, filed in superior court here today by Melvin E. Moore, Mildred Moore and Florence Crowthers against Martha Peters and others.

SOLONS QUESTION BUDGET FOE

$1000 THEFT IN STORE PROBED

Truck Used to Haul Away Clothing from S. A. Establishment

While Mayo brothers, 310 East Fourth street, clothiers, were tabulating a loss which may exceed $1,000, police and county officials were today investigating the burglary of the store, Saturday night.

The loot, consisting of clothing and suit cases, was believed to have been removed in a truck.

Entrance was gained when the burglars cut a heavy screen at the rear, bent bars over the windows, entered and unlocked the rear door, according to police reports.

The loot consisted of:
36 men's silk shirts
36 pongee silk shirts
7 suit cases
7 suits
54 women's dresses
36 silk vests and sweaters
$45 in cash

A quantity of women's silk underwear.

The similarity of working methods led police to suspect that the "job" was done by the same persons who last week stole dry goods valued at $1,800 from the Keen Hat shop, Anaheim. In both cases merchandise was stolen, and was hauled away in a truck.

150 REBELS IN NET OF IRISH FREE STATE

LONDON, March 12.—A quasi-military organization designed to overthrow the Free State government in Ireland and in certain contingencies to resort to acts of violence in England, was broken up by the arrest of 150 persons who were deported to Dublin last night, Home Secretary Bridgeman announced in the House of Commons this afternoon.

(By United Press Leased Wire)

DUBLIN, March 12.—Three warships today brought to Dublin 150 rebel prisoners of the Free State, captured in a great round up that extended to every corner in the British Isles.

The docks were heavily guarded by national troops as the insurgents were landed and conveyed with tanks and armored cars to Mount Joy prison.

The prisoners were captured by Scotland Yard detectives in all manner of places, in England, Scotland and Wales. They are charged with supplying guns and ammunition to the De Valerites.

President Cosgrave's recent visit to London was for the purpose of requesting this assistance from the British government, it was learned. Since that visit, three weeks ago, Scotland Yard officials have been at work planning concerted raids. When the signal was given, the machinery of the famous British organization worked to perfection.

It is believed that the raids resulted in the arrest of every important rebel in Great Britain, outside of Ireland.

Boys and seventy year old men were among the prisoners.

ARRAIGN GIRL HELD IN KIDNAPING CASE

ALBANY, N. Y., March 12.—While Angelina Avelo was arraigned today for kidnaping three-year-old Leo Minkin, son of Judge Leopold Minkin, the search for the man who is alleged to have drugged the girl and thus caused her to commit the crime, stretched across the state.

VESSEL SENDS S. O. S.

LONDON, March 12.—A s. o. s. from the steamer Marburg of the Canadian Pacific line was picked up early today by the station at Land's End. The Marburg, of 10,703 tons register, is bound from Clyde to St. Johns. Several vessels are speeding to the rescue.

LIONS WAGE WAR AGAINST NEW BUDGET

San Diego Club Claims Governor Aiding Corporations at Expense of Citizens.

SAN DIEGO, March 12.—An unusual turn in the Richardson budget fight was seen here today when the Lions' Club, a luncheon organization that usually keeps clear of politics, took quarter page ads in the newspapers to attack the budget.

The ads bitterly attack the budget as a "corporation budget" and call upon the people to wire the representatives at Sacramento to defeat it.

They assert that the saving in school and other important funds is a saving to the corporations only, and that this cost is swung directly over to the people.

YAQUI INDIANS LOOT VILLAGE, KILL MAYOR

(By United Press Leased Wire)

NOGALES, Ariz., March 12. — Search is being made for a group of Yaqui Indians, about eighty in number who descended on the Mexican town of Banamichi, on the Sonora river, looted stores, killed the acting mayor, and wounded two other citizens, according to advices reaching here today from Cananea, Mexico.

The attack took place at midnight. The Yaquis looted every store in the town. Municipal authorities gathered a force and launched a counter attack. Acting Mayor Jesus Mendez Escalante, leading the attack, was killed. One Yaqui was killed and two taken prisoner.

A strong force of troops from Cananea, the nearest military post, has gone in pursuit. The Yaqui escaped with all of their loot.

The mayor of the town and two other citizens were assassinated two weeks ago by political enemies.

ROYALTY SALES CRUX AT OIL MAN'S TRIAL

Did the sale by the C. O. Jaggers Oil company, of shares in the royalties on oil land in Orange county, constitute a violation of the state corporate securities act?

This was the question which was confronting jurors in Superior Judge Z. B. West's court today, as Jaggers, prominent oil man, was facing criminal charges to that effect.

Attorneys Clyde Bishop, John A. Harvey of Santa Ana, and R. A. Newell of Long Beach, defending Jaggers, maintained that it did not. They held that the royalties were not at any time the property of the Jaggers company, but that they were the property of the original owners of the land, and that no portion of the five-sixths of the oil production, which was claimed by the Jaggers company, was ever sold.

District Attorney A. P. Nelson, on the other hand, claimed that the property was owned by the Jaggers company in trust, and that therefore the sale was in violation of the state securities act.

Argumenuts on legal technicalities occupied the entire morning session of court.

The case was expected to consume most of the day today, and possibly a portion of tomorrow.

PREMIER'S HOME IS PERILED BY FLAMES

LONDON, March 12—Fire broke out on the second floor of the residence of Premier Bonar Law at 10 Downing street early today.

The prime minister's family was aroused but prompt appearance of the fire department prevented serious damage.

The fire is believed to have been caused by overheating of an electric plate.

CHAIRMAN OF BOARD GOES ON STAND

Joint Session of Legislators to Reveal New Side of Problem

The state senate today passed the bill providing for an additional judge for the superior court of Orange county, according to a dispatch received here this afternoon. The bill now goes to the assembly. Among attorneys who have been mentioned as possible candidates for the position are L. A. West, Santa Ana, former district attorney; E. J. Marks, Fullerton; F. C. Drumm, Orange.

(By United Press Leased Wire)

SACRAMENTO, March 12.—Gilbert Daniels, chairman of the state board of control, was scheduled to appear before the joint senate and assembly hearing today for interrogation as to what he thinks about Governor Friend W. Richardson's $79,000,000 economy budget.

Daniels is the uncommunicative member of the board who refused to sign the budget submitted by Mrs. Nellie B. Pierce, its framer, and who compiled a document of his own setting forth the appropriations for the next biennial at amounts he believed correct to properly run the state. The total was in the neighborhood of $88,000,000.

With the senate authorizing the printing of 500 copies of Daniels' budget or "report" as some legislators believe it should be labelled, exhausive comparisons between the two sets of figures are expected today.

Interesting Session

With both Mrs. Pierce and Daniels on hand for questioning, the hearing is expected to be one of the most interesting of the many which will undoubtedly be necessary before the budget is finally amended, approved and becomes effective.

Some interesting developments are expected in the assembly today when Assemblyman John Badaracco, San Francisco, asks permission to introduce jointly with Assemblyman Hornblower, also a bay city legislator, a bill asking for the repeal of the Wright dry enforcement act. The measure is said to be identical with the one presented in the upper house by Senator McDonald before the legislative recess.

Author is Confident

Under the rules of the house all bills following the recess must be referred to a committee on introduction of bills and then receive a two-thirds vote before they can be considered. Assemblyman Wright, father of the dry measure, declares he has a majority of the house to prevent the Badaracco measure from being introduced and is positive it will die in the introduction of bills committee.

Plans of Governor Richardson to have home demonstration work in the state cared for by the appropriation of the University of California agricultural college will be satisfactory to members of the state farm bureau federation, according to belief of officials of the organization, expressed here today.

The executive comittee of the federation has agreed to approve the governor's plan provided the work of the agricultural college will not be crippled under the scheme to divert part of its funds to care for the demonstration work.

Sidelights On What Is Occupying Minds And Time of Solons

SACRAMENTO, March 12.—Hearings and committee meetings will keep conscientious legislators steadily at the capitol during most of the daylight and evening hours this week. Besides the regular schedules, at least one meeting during the week of each of the 92 committees, a series of special events are on the calendar.

U. S. Supreme Court Upholds Calif. Tax Measure of 1910

WASHINGTON, March 12—Special taxes imposed by the state of California upon gross receipts of public service companies within the state were upheld by the supreme court today.

Suits to nullify the taxes were brought by the Pullman company. The taxes, ranging from three to four per cent, were imposed under a constitutional amendment adopted in 1910.

The special taxes were levied to supplant county taxation on public service companies.

The court declared that in enforcing the law, a provision prohibiting a company from doing business in the state if it did not pay the tax could not be enforced against interstate business of such a company, but could be against its intrastate business.

SACRAMENTO, March 12.—The supreme court decision on special taxes in California on public utilities may have a bearing on the suits brought against the King tax bill, according to R. T. McKissick, deputy attorney general. The same principles are involved in both suits, he says, but additional points are involved in the King bill suits, brought by the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe railroads. More than $5,000,000 is held up pending these two suits.

REVEAL HOAX IN ABNORMAL TEMPERATURE

Physicians Declare Girl Used Tiny Water Bottle to Boost Mercury in Tube.

ESCANABA, Mich., March 12—The high fever registered by Miss Evelyn Lyons for three weeks was declared a hoax today by Dr. Harry J. Defnet, attending physician.

The physician charged the girl, by trickery, led observers to believe she was running a temeprature above 114.

Dr. Defnet declared the girl used a tiny hot water bottle every time a thermometer was placed in her month, to force the mercury to appear to register above 114 degrees.

Dr. Defnet's announcement was made after an investigation by Dr. Morris Fishbern of the American Medical association and Dr. F. B. Woody of the Presbyterian hospital.

"The girl is one of the most clever medical tricksters I have ever met," declared Dr. Fishbern, who is a special investigator of freak cases for the American Medical Journal.

SUGAR MAN MAY BE CANDIDATE FOR COUNCIL

Claude L. Killen, superintendent of the factory of the Santa Ana Sugar company, may become a candidate for councilman from the first ward, it became known today.

A number of his friends have approached him and he is now giving serious consideration to the suggestion, it was stated.

Killen has excellent councilmanic qualifications, his friends were quoted as saying.

It was pointed out that he is young, energetic, progressive and trained along mechanical lines, and that he would bring to the board a valuable fund of information.

Frank Ey is the only definitely announced candidate from the first ward. He filed his nomination petition with City Clerk Ed Vegely today.

Nat H. Neff, candidate from the fifth ward, also filed his nominating petition today.

N. E. Wray, who was announced a few days ago as a possible candidate from the fifth ward, said today that he would definitley decide by Wednesday.

Four men who have been mentioned as possible candidates for the board of education today began the circulation of nominating petitions. They were Frank L. Andrews, secretary of the present board; Charles F. Smith, member of the board; L. G. Swales and Alex Brownridge.

Miss Jeannette McFadden, city librarian, and Mrs. Walter Cornelius, with the Orange County Title company, whose names rumor has connected with the city treasureship, today stated definitely that they would not oppose Mrs. Olive Lopez, incumbent, who already has filed her nominating petition.

WIDE ZONE IS SWEPT BY GALE

Sleepers Perish In Wreckage of Homes In Tennessee Village

RAIN STORM ADDS TO MISERY OF VICTIMS

Relief Workers Are Hindered In Rescue as Traffic Demolished

(By United Press Leased Wire)

JACKSON, Tenn., March 12.—Twenty persons were killed and nearly two score injured when a wind and hail storm struck Pinson, near here, during the night.

Bodies of the dead were brought here today by rescue workers, who rushed to the stricken village when word of the disaster was broadcasted.

Pinson was quietly at sleep when the storm broke, wrecking houses and buildings.

Many of the dead were killed while they slept. Others were tossed about in the wreckage of their homes as the storm swirled about the little town.

Rain and light hail followed the winds, adding to the misery of the victims.

The casualties lay scattered about while townspeople, who escaped with only slight injuries, worked frantically in the darkness and rain to provide for them.

Messengers Summon Help

Messengers were rushed to surrounding towns to secure nurses, physicians, provisions and other emergencies necessary.

Bands of relief workers arrived shortly before dawn. They came in automobiles, broken down buggies and other conveyances.

They found the school house, two churches, and a number of dwellings demolished. Debris was scattered over a wide area. Many of the dead and injured still lay in the street, or under the wreckage of their homes.

Relief workers also pushed on to Deanville, a village near Pinson, where the storm caused considerable damage. Eight injured persons were put aboard a special train and additional victims from Pinson were taken aboard and brought here for treatment.

Pastor's Wife Killed

Among the dead at Pinson was Mrs. James, wife of a Methodist minister. Her husband was among the seriously injured. Their home had been blown down and they were trapped in the wreckage. They lay side by side during the long hours of the night in the rain and cold.

"We have not yet learned the extent of the storm toll," Major J. D. Johnson of Jackson, who took charge of the relief work, said today.

"We were unable to make a thorough search of the storm district. We will have a large force of relief workers in the field today.

Fear More Deaths

Undertaking establishments throughout Jackson were overtaxed as additional bodies found in the cyclone-swept district about Pinson were rushed here by rescue workers.

Hospitals took emergency measures to care for the injured. Estimates at noon today that seventy-five victims, a number of whom may die, were being cared for. Preparations were made to utilize private residences for the homeless and less seriously injured if additional refugees arrive.

HEAVY WIND AND SNOW HALTS CHICAGO TRAFFIC

CHICAGO, March 12.—A gale which reached eighty miles an hour accompanied by rain, sleet and snow swept up the Mississippi valley and across the Great Lakes region during the night, causing heavy damage.

Many cities were isolated. Hundreds of miles of wires were blown down. Railroad traffic was demoralized. Twenty were injured in Chicago alone in accidents due to the storm. A large part of the city was in darkness when main lines, supplying electric current, were snapped by the wind.

cial session Tuesday afternoon.

The senate roads and highways committee will gather for an open hearing on the mother lode highway bill, also scheduled for Tuesday.

Wednesday night the labor and capital committees of both houses will hold a joint hearing for consideration of the number of bills introduced aiming to regulate employment agencies in the state.

An Thursday there will be a reapportionment hearing, scheduled for the assembly chamber at 8 a.m. This will undoubtedly be one of the liveliest gatherings of the session as it will be the first regular consideration thus far of the different reapportionment measures introduced.

In addition the Carter civil service probe committee, the Bromley committee investigating campaign expenditures of candidates for state and congressional offices, and the Jones body probing campaigns for and against initiative measures on the fall ballot, are expected to resume meetings during the week, although definite dates have not yet been announced.

Legislators were today agreeing that Senator Lyon's measure under which Los Angeles would be authorized to acquire condemnation water and power rights outside the city now held by other municipalities, is practically dead, following the action of Los Angeles assemblymen in disapproving the bill. The measure has created widespread interest through certain sections of Southern California.

The assembly committee on introduction of bills is expected to give its approval to the Jones measure increasing the number of superior court judges in San Bernardino county from two to three. The bill is expected to be authorized early this week.

BANDITS ROB WOMAN OF $12,000 JEWELS

LOS ANGELES, March 12.—Two footpads followed Miss Effie Miller from a downtown theater, dragged her into an alley near her home and robbed her of $12,000 in diamonds, according to the police today.

John W. Lowe, night watchman, found her lying unconscious. The highwaymen did not injure the girl, but it was necessary to treat her for hysterics at the receiving hospital.

The victim told police she had concealed her diamonds in her handbag before leaving the theater, but it is believed the men followed her in and watched for her to leave.

COCO COLA MAGNATE ANSWER BALM SUIT

(By United Press Leased Wire)

ATLANTA, Ga., March 12.—Asa G. Candler, multi-millionaire founder of the Coca Cola company, today filed answer to the suit for $500,000 brought against him by Mrs. Onezima De Bouchel, New Orleans beauty, alleging breach of promise.

The answer admitted that members of the Candler family had investigated "certain suggestions" about Mrs. De Bouchel's conduct which were received from persons in New Orleans.

Candler, in his answer today, declared Mrs. De Bouchel, following their bethrothal, proposed that they be married immediately but said he refused.

running on an impossible conservative record in a radical year. Taxes had gone up, and Bryan was running on an economy platform. He knew the farmers and was a good mixer. The Non-Partisan League had endorsed him for Governor and Howell, Republican, for Senator. The only serious obstacle was the old Bryan-Hitchcock feud, which had split the Democratic party in Nebraska for years.

The split had been over women suffrage and prohibition, both of which Hitchcock had opposed. So Bryan offered to support Hitchcock if Hitchcock would accept those two amendments as accomplished facts and agree henceforward to support them as such. Hitchcock agreed, W. J. Bryan came into the state and campaigned for his old enemy, the "Commoner" argued for him. However, the Democratic candidate for governor was elected and the Democratic senator was defeated; and Governor Bryan has a Republican legislature on his hands and the Republican newspapers on his neck and the merry war is on. In his bluff way, he is cheerful and confident under it. He organizes letter writing campaigns from the people to their representatives; he takes full advantage of the fact that the legislature is composed largely of novices, amateurs at the game at which he is expert. He may win. Or if he loses, the legislature has thereby conferred on him an issue on which to go before the people for another term as Governor—or for Senator, which rumor has it is his real ambition.

So we may have by a strange transposition, Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska, United States Senator, and William J. Bryan of Florida, private citizen.

AIMS OF BILL AS TO SCHOOL CHIEFS TOLD

"City school superintendents of California will acquire a legal status," J. A. Cranston, city school superintendent here, declared today, "if Senate bill No. 1609-A becomes a law."

"Heretofore," explained Cranston, "city school superintendents have bene, in so far as the law is concerned, without duties. The law has said that the board of education could elect city school superintendent, but no provisions as to the duties of that school official were included in the law.

"To adjust the deficiency the matter was brought before the convention of school superintendents held at Oakland recently and the present Senate bill was formulated and introduced at Sacramento.

"It outlines the duties, and makes legal those duties, now being performed by city school superintendents, such as recommending teachers for appointment or dismissal. It confirms his status as administrative and supervisory head of the scholo system of the district, and all other officers, teachers and other employes of the school district, the proposed law states, shall report to him and he shall report for them and for himself to the governing board of the school district.

"The bill proposes that the superintendent of schools shall be elected by the governing board of the school district for a term of four years. After his second election as city superintendent of schools or as district superintendent of schools in the same school district, the provisions of the tenure act governing the employment of teachers shall apply to him."

storm, were unable to reach their homes. Street car and elevated line traffic was tied up by a heavy snowfall. Automobiles were stalled along all drives, unable to buck the high wind and snow drifts.

The sudden fall of wet snow and rain clogged drains, flooding cellars.

Snow continued today, although forecasts were for fair and continued cold weather for tonight.

Hundreds of telephone operators stuck to their posts when the Bell Telephone building was threatened by fire early today as the two top floors of the Times building, adjoining the telephone company's office, were swept by a spectacular blaze.

A high wind carrying smoke and burning embers, swirled around the offices where the telephone girls were working. Firemen were able through heroic efforts to confine the blaze to the Times building. The loss was approximately $100,000.

YOUTH KILLED AS WIND UNROOFS SCHOOL

PORSMOUTH, Ohio, March 12.—James Dennis Boggs, 9 was killed and five companions injured today when wind blew off the roof of a school house. The boys, playing marbles, were buried beneath the wreckage.

THREE KILLED AS TORNADO SWEEPS OVER RICHMOND

RICHMOND, Ky., March 12.—A windstorm, taking the form of a tornado, which swept over this region last night, caused the death of William Hall and two of his children outright and seriously injured his wife and seven members of his family, when the home was blown several hundred yards and demolished.

ALLEGED CHIEF OF REDS FACES JURORS

(By United Press Leased Wire)

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., March 12.—Communism went on trial here today.

The most drastic radical state law in the United States—the Michigan anti-syndicalism law was put to the test as the first of the "red" trials, growing out of the alleged Communist convention at Bridgeman last fall, got under way.

William Z. Foster, editor of the Labor Herald, and leader of the 1918 steel strike, was the first of thirty-two men and women seized following spectaclar raid on the convention, to face a jury. He was selected because of his prominence in radical circles.

Rose Pastor Stokes, New York Socialist, and nine others, charged with being delegates to the convention, who voluntarily surrendered Saturday, were arraigned and released on $1,000 bonds.

HUNT SLAYING SUSPECT WHO FLED POLICE

Police were searching today for Pat Welch, colored, San Diego, suspected of being Arthur Wright, whom San Diego police want for alleged murder.

Welch broke away from Officers Willson and Howell here last Saturday night, flashed what officers declare was a revolver, and disappeared. H. C. Boyden and Tim Mitchell, also colored, arrested at that time, paid $10 each when they pleaded guilty today to drunkenness charges. They appeared before City Recorder W. F. Heathman.

Police were called to Tenth and Main street last Saturday night by a disturbance. When they reached the scene, they attempted to arrest the trio. The man whose name was said to be Welch broke away and ran, reaching into his pocket for something as he ran. The other two were arrested.

According to the stories told by one of the two men arrested, Welch's correct name is Wright. The men said that the missing man came to Santa Ana with Joseph Clark, colored, who died suddenly o nWest Third street here several weeks ago.

Welch told them that he was fleeing from San Diego officers because of a cutting scrape in which a man had been killed, they said. City Marshal Claude Rogers communicated with the southern county officials, and secured information which tended to substantiate the stories of the other two men.

Welch had been working for an Anaheim contractor, but officers who visited his room there and his place of work failed to secure trace of him.

HEALTH TALK NO. 22
By J. G. Kelly, D. C.

Chiropractic, the modern health science, has established the fact that man's brain controls the health of every organ in his body. The lungs, heart, spleen, liver, kidneys, stomach, bowels,—in fact, every part of the body is dependent upon the brain activity.

Your body is a perfect network of nerves, leading out from your brain over the spinal cord, and thence to the different tissues and organs throughout your body. These nerves are the electric wires that carray the nerve electricity or NERVE FORCE. Every portion of your anatomy must have its share of this NERVE FORCE in order to be kept healthy.

This is what happens when you are sick,—there is a mechanical pressure on nerves where they leave the spinal cord between the small movable joints of the spine. If it is a nerve supplying the stomach, stomach trouble results. If a nerve leading to the kidneys—kidney trouble is the inevitable result. In other words, the particular part of the body supplied by the pinched nerve becomes diseased because it does not receive its share of the nerve force.

I will be glad to supply you with indisputable proof of what I am able to do for your particular sickness. Consultation is free.

A Charming Idea For Living Rooms

A New Cane and Velour Design..... $158

The outward and visible beauty of this suite is matched by its inner and invisible strength. The frame is made of solid mahogany, each piece has cane back, the davenport with added cane paneled ends. Large floss-filled cushions. Beautiful Ciel Blue velour. A very moderate price of $158 for the three pieces.

"Just Stalling"

Lots of people are "just stalling along" with inadequate furnishings, or with pieces that sadly need replacement, waiting for the day when their bank balances warrant the selection of new furniture.

A mistake. The Horton Easy Payment Plan is needed by such people. A matter of a small percentage of the purchase in cash, the balance spread over a period of months in small payments, will furnish any small bungalow or stately mansion.

The furniture is delivered at once—the plan is simple, easy, dignified—let us explain it!

A Davenport Table

Furnishes That "Little Touch"

Dainty yet strong, ornamental yet useful—a davenport table has that "certain air." One of our tables in antique Italian finish, Italian design, mahogany top, is only $25.

Another with Italian finish, beveled edges, Italian design, is a good value at $39.

Bridge Lamp with Shade $15.75

ANNOUNCE BIKE PARADE PRIZE WINNERS

Bicycle fans today were still discussing the big bicycle parade of Saturday, when Fred St. Onge, bicycle enthusiast, lead more than 250 riders on a ride through the city, and at the conclusion of the run awarded prizes to winners in the various classes for which awards were made.

St. Onge predicted a revival of cycling as a result of the demonstration.

Prizes were awarded as follows:

Best decorated wheels—Grace Hoefer, 2219 Grand avenue, Orange, first; prize, 1923 Pierce bicycle donated by Henry's Bike shop (Miss Hoefer won first prize in the parade at Orange Friday—first prize for neat appearance, but in the Santa Ana parade had an entirely different decorated wheel. She rode a bicycle that was more than twenty years old); second; Julien French, 519 East Walnut; prize, pair of tires donated by H. W. Myrick; third, Donald Hoare, 2020 North Broadway; prize,( pair handlebars donated by Harris Bicycle shop; fourth, Dorothy Rasmussen, South Orange avenue, Orange; prize, bicycle chain donated by Henry's Bike shop. (Miss Rasmussen won first prize for best decorated wheel in the Orange parade Friday); fifth, Harold Hilgers, 506 South Sycamore street; prize, saddle donated by Henry's Bicycle shop.

Oldest Rider Gets Tires

Oldest rider in line—G. W. Smith, 80 years, 826 Van Ness avenue, pair of bicycle tires presented by Harris' Bicycle shop. Smith has ridden a wheel forty-three years.

Youngest rider—Harold Lutes, 6 years, 802 South Garnsey street, horn, given by Myrick.

Neatest girl rider—First, Gussie Lee Gibson, 412 North Ross street, lamp by Myrick; second, Eleanor Applebaum, 419 South Birch street, paid of pedals, by Harris Bicycle shop.

Neatest boy scout in unifom—First, L. Trueblood, Troop 10, gold by Cycle Trades of America; second, Julian Baer, Troop 1, silver medal, C. T. T.; third, Don Smith, Troop 1, bronze medal, C. T. A.

Cycle Trades of America silver trophy cup won by junior high school with sixty-eight riders in line; second, Washington school, with fifty-six riders. Nearly every school had a number of riders in the parade.

Win Special Mention

Special mention was given to the following for decorated bicycles:

Ruth Hall, 825 South Main street; Pauline Spray, 201 North Flower street; Dorothy Seely, 912 West Second street; Liston Hill, 938 West Pine street; Charles Greenleaf, Troop 12, Boy Scouts; Louise Griset and Anna Louise Hurtado, of Tustin, and Ruth Coultrap, 613 South Garnsey street, on a bicycle built in 1888.

St. Onge had the riders give three cheers for The Register, which helped the dealers to promote the successful event.

BOYS WIN PRIZES IN BICYCLE RACES

Several boys of Santa Ana today were in possession of treasured prizes won in bicycle races Saturday afternoon. The races were staged by Henry Cycle shop, 427 West Fourth street, after the annual bicycle parade.

The winners and prizes were as follows:

Three-quarter mile, for boys 14 and under—Charles Chapman, first, gold watch; Paul Beard, second, horn; Earl Homan, third, box of plugs.

Same distance, for boys 14 and over — Leonard DeLue, Long Beach, first, Pierce medal; Walter Kopplin, second, pair of rims; Earl Cunningham, third, chain; Joe Harless, fourth, pair of pedals.

Five-mile race—Lee Kiser, first, gold watch; Percy Martin, second, pair of tires; Julian French, third, emblem medal.

ANOTHER BEACH MAN DRAWS SIX MONTHS

HUNTINGTON BEACH, March 12.—Judge Warner started the week out by senting another local man to serve six months in the county jail on a liquor charge.

C. A. Gross, arrested Saturday night, admitted that he had in his possession at the time of his arrest a bottle of liquor, and drew a term of half a year in the cell at Santa Ana. Earl Bybee, proprietor of a local cafe, began his stretch Saturday after having been sentenced to a similar period for transporting liquor. With the incarceration of Gross and Bybee Judge Warner brought the membership of the six months club up to six.

How to Be Free of Cold All Winter

A Timely Warning!

Every one knows that even the slightest cold, if not taken in time or neglected, often develops into a serious ailment.

Don't neglect them, they are dangerous. At the first sign of a chill, or sneezing, start taking Hyland's 14—a mild, safe remedy that is different from other cold remedies. It does not contain any drug that is habit-forming or depresses the heart. It gives results at once, yet is perfectly safe even for children, as it contains no quinine, no aspirin, no acetanilid.

Carry a package in your pocket or handbag to keep yourself in good condition. Hyland's 14 is on sale at all druggists. C. S. Kelley Drug Store, corner 4th and Main streets.—Adv.

PLACENTIA

PLACENTIA, March 12—Mrs. Helen Bowen has been confined to her bed for the past week with influenza and the two small children are now suffering with the same malady.

Miss Margaret Key of Placentia avenue, is spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. J. C. Donald, of Whittier.

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Travers spent all day Saturday in Los Angeles the guest of Mrs. Travers' mother, Mrs. J. A. Janes.

Mrs. John Alslaetter of Bakersfield is spending a few days with her daughter, Mrs. H. P. Bender, North Broadford avenue.

Mrs. Hazel Champion and Mrs. Frank Black are being entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Sullivan.

STUDENTS HEAR TALK ON OIL BY EXPERT

Reviewing the action of the geologic agencies whose combined effects have produced the present land surfaces of the country, Carrol M. Wagner, of the General Petroleum corporation, recently told the oil production class of the Fullerton junior college that these same agencies are still at work, but that their action is extremely slow and is spread over immense stretches of geologic time.

"By careful study of the causes which are in operation around us," he said, "we can work out the history of the older formations.

"Southern California is a wonderful place for the study of dynamic and structural geology. Few districts can compare with it in that respect."

Wagner reviewed a wide range of subjects, among them the geologic history of the Imperial valley, which, he said, was formerly occupied by the sea, and was then an extension of the Gulf of California. Many old seashore lines may still be seen on its sides today, he pointed out.

On the origin of oil, Wagner said it was certain that all known oil deposits were associated with the remains of one kind or another of living organisms.

"More than the presence of rocks favorable in this respect is necessary, however, to arrive at commercially valuable oil deposits, he continued. "In Southern California showings of oil could be found by drilling anywhere, but a 'showing' has no money value. Commercial pools of oil only accumulate under favorable strucutral conditions."

Dealing with the characteristics of some of the well known oil fields of Southern California, the speaker said that the oil pools had a general northwest to southeast trend because they occupied folds caused by earth pressures that pushed the formations towards the northeast, against the rigid and immovable granite core of the Santa Ana mountains. The earth folds nearest these mountains were sharper than those farther away and that fact influenced the character and extent of the oil pools, he stated.

Happy Children Gather to Help In Birthday Celebration

The fourth birthday of her little son was chosen by Mrs. J. G. Kelly as offering an opportunity to give the laddie a happy party when his little playmates might be called together for the merriment.

Master Grover greeted fourteen small friends, who spent the afternoon playing the games so dear to childish hearts under the direction of Mrs. Kelly with the assistance of Mrs. S. N. Parkinson.

Late in the afternoon the children were seated around the table, gay with spring posies and served pink and white ice cream, pink and white cookies and a beautiful birthday cake, whose white surface glowed with light from four pink candles. As they enjoyed the goodies, Mrs. Kelly played selections of nursery rhymes on the Victrola.

Many gifts were heaped upon Master Grover by his little friends who included Carolyn Wendell, Ada and Helen Parkinson, Jessie and Earlynn Julian, La Verne and Virginia Stewart, Aline Ballow, Russell Abbey, Kensil Brown, Donald Boyd, Junior Christian, Stanley Elza and Johnny Fainbarg.

SCHOOL DRAMA AT ORANGE PLEASES

BY LOIS HALLMAN

ORANGE, March 12.—"Martha-by-the-Day" was presented by the Drama class of Orange Union High School in the new auditorium Saturday evening.

This popular play, by Julie M. Lippmann, proved a most decided success and its presentation reflected credit upon the coach, F. L. Carrier.

The cast showed that it had been carefully selected and well trained. Each part seemed to be taken by someone who knew and was the type of character he represented.

Martha Slawson, who worked out "by the day" was admirably played by Edith Rogers. The optimism and humor which this study called for are natural to Miss Rogers and her rather sturdy build added to the picture of the woman who cared so much for her husband, children and friends.

The part of Sam Slawson, her sick husband, was taken by Curtis Morgan. The steady faith he had in his wife's ability to overcome all difficulties showed more clearly than anything else the type of woman she was.

Louane Leech as Ma Slawson showed one of the best character studies of the play. Her laughable actions and gossipy nature kept her near the center of attraction.

Lawrence Slosson was the other outstanding player in his part of the ex-convict, Allen Sherman. Mrs. Sherman, his wife, who was a society lady of a lower type, was played by Elizabeth Huscroft.

The parts of the lovers, Miss Clare Lang and Ronald Sherman, were very well played by Irene Lewis and Howard Murphy. The private love scenes were quite "touching" for seldom could the young man get anywhere near his lady love before someone "butted in."

Save for a little lighting trouble at the start everything went off smoothly. The orchestra played several numbers between acts and furnished a splendid musical program.

The complete cast is as follows:

Cast.

Martha Slawson, Edith Rogers; Sam Slawson, her husband, Curtis Morgan; Cora, eldest daughter, Muriel Hively; Francie, their youngest daughter, Laura Anderson; Ma Slawson, Sam's mother, Louane Leech; Mrs. Sherman, a society lady, Elizabeth Huscroft; Ronald Sherman, suitor to Miss Clair, Howard Murphy; Miss Clair Lang, Martha's boarder, Irene Lewis; Amy, a friend of Mrs. Sherman, Dorothy Pease; An ex-convict, Lawrence Slosson; Mr. Lundy, the landlord, James Crawford; the The Butler, Wilbur Anderson.

"Our Boys," a three-act play, will be given in the auditorium Friday evening, March 16.

Pretty Ceremony Unites Young Pair Saturday Afternoon

Occurring Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the parsonage home of the Rev. Will A. Betts was a pretty wedding in which Miss Mildred Perine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy H. Perine and Victor MacKinzie, son of Mrs. Hester MacKinzie, were the principals.

Miss Perine was a very lovely young bride in a frock of delicate green taffeta with taffeta hat to harmonize. Her ornaments were a rope of pearls and a corsage of white bride roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Helen Perine, wearing a blue gown with hat to correspond, while Mr. John Kolb attended Mr. MacKinzie as best man.

Witnessing the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Perine and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hildreth.

Immediately after the Rev. Mr. Betts pronounced them man and wife the young couple repaired to the home of Mr. McKinzie's sister, Mrs. R. J. Miller in Tustin, where a delightful wedding dinner was served preceding their departure for their honeymoon.

The bride is a graduate of Garden Grove high school while Mr. MacKinzie, a Santa Ana man, is now in the cement contracting business in Pasadena where he is building an attractive home for his bride. Until that home is completed the young people will make their home with the groom's mother, Mrs. Hester MacKinzie, 924 East Third street.

Sycamore Rebekah

Saturday was indeed a gala day in the annals of Orange county Rebekahdom for it marked the forty-sixth district meeting of district No. 50 comprising all the Rebekah lodges of the county.

These met in the local I. O. O. F. hall with Sycamore lodge as official hostess since it was the regular meeting date of the latter.

Grand officers from the Rebekah assembly were honored guests and included Mesdames Mary M. Pierce, president; Marie Stineman, warden; Eola M. Cyrus, secretary; Fanny M. Lacy, past president; Alice Burbee, marshall and Ora Simpson, outside guardian. These arrived for the morning session and were present for the enjoyment of luncheonat noon when each of the visiting lodges aided in furnishing the delectable menu, partaken of by 197 guests and members.

The banquet room was abloom with sweet peas and freesias arranged by a committee directed by Mrs. J. E. Liebig while each place was marked by a post-card photograph of the Odd Fellows' Orphans' home at Gilroy.

Luncheon was followed by a school of instruction and at 4:30 was held a special session of the assembly for the purpose of conferring the degree, pass-word and sign upon those past grands and past noble grands entitled to such honors, and by means of which they would be able to attend the state Rebekah assembly.

Following the afternoon events a pretty dinner honoring the distinguished guests was enjoyed at St. Ann's Inn with Mrs. Inez Baker and Mrs. Bessie Stovall, noble and vice-grands of Sycamore lodge, as hostesses.

In the evening the regular Sycamore lodge session was held and nine candidates were initiated with an audience of 350 persons to enjoy and commend the beautiful floor work of the degree team. Among the onlookers were the officers of the Rebekah Assembly augmented by other well-known guests including E. R. Longley, deputy grand master of the Grand Lodge.

Each of the distinguished guests together with the candidates were presented with clusters of jonquils and ferns, arranged for by a flower committee of which Mrs. Stovall was chairman. Much interest attached to the announcement that Lois lodge of Anaheim was the winner in the motto contest and the verses submitted by that lodge would be framed for the corridor at the Gilroy home.

Concluding the day's session was the adjournment to the banquet hall where, under the arrangements of Mrs. Phoebe Mortimer, delightful refreshments were served. The next meeting of Sycamore Rebekahs will be that of March 23 when an interesting program is in store for the members.

Saturday Gayeties At St. Ann's Inn Offer Variety

Radiating hospitality and a friendly atmosphere, St. Ann's Inn on Saturday night lent itself to many pleasant social affairs varying from formal dinners to gay parties gathered to dine and dance the hours away.

One table vivid in pink and green expressed the colors and spirit of the Rebekah lodge for seated around the festal board, massed with pink blossoms and greenery were distinguished officers of the Rebekah assembly, gathered as guests of Mrs. Inez Baker and Mrs. Bessie Stovall.

In addition to the duo of hostesses, (noble grand and vice grand respectively of Sycamore Rebekah lodge) covers were placed for Mesdames Mary M. Pierce, Marie Stineman, Eola M. Cyrus, Alice Burpee, Ola Simpson, Fanny M. Lacy and Mary Emily Palmer.

Following the dinner, the party returned to Odd Fellows' hall where the regular Rebekah meeting occupied the evening program.

However the Inn was the setting for several other parties of diners who remained to dance to the excellent music furnished by Chapman's orchestra. One group of a large number of guests enjoyed the event through the hospitality of Mr. George Shattuck.

At another table whose floral decorations were particularly attractive were fourteen diners who gathered in impromptu fashion to wile away the evening hours, while many smaller groups of four or six, added brilliancy and charm to the scene.

Inn Will Be Scene Of Recital Presented By Long Beach Pianist

Almost a week in the future is scheduled a pleasant happening in Santa Ana's musical circles when Minnie O'Neil, brilliant young pianist of Long Beach, will make her initial appearance in this city in a delightfully arranged recital at St. Ann's Inn.

Accorded the highest praise wherever she has appeared, Miss O'Neil has met with an astonishing success for so youthful an artist. Her training has been largely under Abby De Avirett and for several years past she has been one of his leading assistant teachers.

Among her Southern California appearances have been those at the Virginia hotel and the Ebell club of Long Beach; Redondo High school, University of California, and Long Beach High school. She also was greeted with pronounced success when she gave recitals before the Wa Wan, MacDowell and Musicians' clubs of Los Angeles.

In arranging for the recital to be presented in this city, Miss O'Neil stated that the piano numbers would be varied by vocal selections sung by Mrs. W. L. Porterfield, a talented young matron of Long Beach who is the possessor of a richly beautiful contralto voice. Mrs. Porterfield is in high demand by Long Beach audiences as well as those of near-by cities, and the combination of artists is said to be a most happy one. They will present their recital at the Inn Sunday afternoon, March 18

WALL ST. JOURNAL FINANCIAL REVIEW

Market Shows Technical Strength Despite Operations of Bears

NEW YORK, March 12.—Wall Street today was slightly perplexed over the immediate speculative outlook at the start of the new week. Three successive days of declining prices left the trading fraternity ready to believe at Saturday's close that stocks had temporarily discounted the favorable features of the trade situation and were about to enter a period of corrective reaction.

Pursuant to this belief, not a few of the day to day contingent espoused the bzear side of the early dealings but their offerings were absorbed easily and the general industrial list started ahead before noon. Although volume of trading was diminished in the afternoon by wire trouble and higher money, the general list was free from selling pressure and gave every indication of being in a sound technical position.

The market closed irregular.

U. S. ## TRADING IS ACTIVE ON L. A. MARKETS

Poor Stocks of Apples and Tomatoes Cleaned Up In Heavy Buying

(By United Press Leased Wire)

LOS ANGELES, March 12. — Trading today was active. Apples continue to move slowly and poor stock is cleaning up at a heavy discount. Artichokes and peas cleaned up well and are firm. Cabbage is scarce and slightly higher.

Tomatoes are higher as much of the poor stock that has been depressing the market has cleaned up. Potatoes are firm as the carlot market is advancing. Imperial lettuce is selling slowly and some stock is ordinary.

Local lettuce is improving in quality and in better demand. Artichokes, few best 1.60 to 1.75.

Asparagus, local, 60 to 75. Imperial Valley, 40 to 65.

Bunched vegetables; Beets, carrots and turnips, 80; spinach, 20 to 25.

Celery, local best, $2.50 to $2.85.

Garlic, Mexican and northern, few best, 12 to 15.

Grapefruit, Arizona, $4.50.

Grapefruit, local, $2.50 to $3.00.

Lemons, per crate, $2.75 to $6.00.

Lettuce, local, best, 60 to 80.

Lettuce, Imperial valley, best, large, $2.00 to $2.25.

Onions, Stockton Brown and Yellows, $2.00 to $2.25; white, best, $3.75; Imperial Spanish $5.25 to $5.75; mostly $5.50 per cwt.

Orange, northern special brand navels, $3.25 to $4.50.

Peppers, local, 16 to 18; chilis, 20 to 22c.

Mexican chilis, 23 to 25; bells, 20 to 21.

Potatoes, northern Rivers, $1.35 to 1.50; Idaho russets, $1.00 to $1.75.

Sweet potatoes, Arkansas Nancy Halls, $2.00 to $2.25 per crate, local Jessup, 2 1-2 to 3 1-2 per lb.

Squash, Italian, $1.25.

Tomatoes, Mexican, pink, $2.00 to $2.25.

APPLE PRICES JUMP ON S. F. MARKETS

Imperial Valley Grapefruit and Berries Also On Up Trend

(By United Press Leased Wire)

SAN FRANCISCO, March 12.—Fewer varieties of apples are now left on this market to select from. Hood River blacks are now selling up to $2.75 per box. Fancy Imperial valley grapefruit is selling as high as $6.00 per box. Imperial valley berries sold from $5.50 to $6.50 per crate.

Approximately 1600 crates of southern celery were received by express but notwithstanding these heavy receipts fancy celery sold up to $4.75 per crate.

The market on Mexican tomatoes is much firmer with best repacked stock selling from $5 to $6.50 per lug.

Eight cars of lettuce were received and the market is receding slightly. Imperial valley lettuce sold from $2.75 to $3.25 per crate with occasional sale at $3.50.

There was very little activity in poultry and prices are holding steady. Nineteen coops of live poultry and 912 pounds of dressed poultry were received by express.

FINANCIAL COMMENT

Short Talks on Current Events of Interest to Investors

By James Wilbur

Although it is commonly understood that the country as a whole now is enjoying an era of great prosperity, few persons realize the extent to which business has quickened in the past six or seven months. The following headlines and excerpts from the Wall Street Journal, probably the greatest financial publication in the world are from the issue of March 2. An equal number of similar items, indicating the excellent business conditions, might be found in any current issue of that paper.

"Montgomery Ward Sales Larger—February total $9,063,-394, an increase of 56.68 per cent from year ago—Largest February yet."

"Ford Production Increases—With 389,000 production scheduled for first quarter of this year, the total will be 229,-000 greater than corresponding quarter of 1922."

"Producers predict copper will reach 20 cents."

"Chicago—Business on Upgrade."

"American Snuff had Record Year."

"Great Northern gross earnings for third week in February increased $78,395 over corresponding week of previous year."

"Standard Oil of Indiana reports 100 per cent gain in net profits."

"Goodyear Tire Outlook for Preferred Brightens."

"N. Y. Tractions Report Improvement in December."

"Lumber Mills Overbooked—Many Forced to Withdraw from Market."

"Studebaker Corporation's net profits for 1922, after charges and taxes, were $18,-086,195, compared with $10,-409,690 for 1921."

"Youngstown—Steel Plants Need Help."

"Crude Oil Production Increases."

HUNTINGTON BEACH WAS 'PACIFIC' CITY IN FOUNDING DAYS

HISTORY OF HUNTINGTON BEACH

And they named it "Pacific City," this 1600 acres of willow lands, purchased for $100,000 by a group of twenty men. And now they had the land,—how were they to secure the houses and the people to put on the land?

Newport Beach furnished the first house! W. T. Newland, a member of the commany who owned the prospective "Pacific City," furnished sixteen horses and the necessary implements to drag in the first residence. Unfortunately, it has long been burned and only those who labored to bring it in and a few of the old residents of Newport Beach, who joined in the general laugh that went up from that city, remember where it stood "somewhere on First street."

Life Began to Appear

For two years there was a gradual awakening of life in the new hamlet. Lots on Ocean front established their permanent reputation of being the most valuable by selling, or advertising themselves for sale,—at $50.00 apiece. Those on Main street, for the main thoroughfare acquired its name early in the annals of history, followed by a close second at $25.00 apiece. And the rest of land? Oh, had there been some fairy to whisper in those pioneers' ears what flowed under the ground, how little they would have worried about what flowed over the ground during the rainy season, when the majority of its were valued from $10 to $15 apiece.

It began to look as though the folk in Newport Beach might not have laughed in vain, when in the spring of 1904 an event occurred which saved the life of the town. On July fourth, 1904, the Pacific Electric ran its first car into the city. Not that there hade been no communication before. Indeer there had. During 1903-1904 the Southern Pacific ran an accommodation train through Pacific City twice a week. You arrived at twelve o'clock and had your choice of remaining two hours until the same train pulled out, or waiting three days until it pulled in again. There are those who say three day guests were possibilities, but never realities!

It was at this transformation period of 1904 that the city changed its name. Indebted to Mr. Huntington of the Pacific Electric for acquiring enough stock in the company owning the city, for which he paid some of the original owners seventeen cents a share, to guarantee his railroad's right of way, the town rewarded his investment by changing its official cognomen to Huntington Beach. However, C. W. Gates, Los Angeles, and his associates retained the controlling interest in the company, and it is this controlling interest which was transferred a few weeks ago to the Standard Oil company at a figure repeatedly rumored to have been around the $20,000,000 mark. Quite a contrast to the seventeen cents a share proposition!

Boom Began in 1905

Of course there came a boom. Not immediately, but gradually, for no apparent reason except the optimism of the property owners and the tenants of the seven or eight residences then in the "City" and their persistent boosting, until in June, 1905, a regular Southern California land boom was in full swing. And according to all reports it was not equalled even by the one which followed the discovery of oil.

At this time there was one house in town which boasted laths and plaster, and Ed Manning had moved into that one in the fall of 1904. As said before, there were only about eight residences. Walter Smith ran the grocery store in a building which occupied practically the same spot as the Huntington Beach Hardware company does today. He handed out the mail, brought in on horseback from the recesses of an old piano box marked with a conspicuous "P. O." Yet, at this same time, one could stand on the site of the present pier and count twenty-five real estate signs without changing position.

As for lots, they were "out of sight," and yet they sold. Inside lots changed hands for $2,000 and $3,000 apiece. In fact, real estate reached a figure not yet exceeded by the oil time prices.

But the Bubble Burst

Then it was all over. By August people awakened. They realized that it had been a false boom with no solid commodity or industry to sponsor it. The real estate signs came down, the "Shylocks" left town, and the settlers resumed their routine everyday life, getting their mail from the depths of the piano box, buying their potatoes by the pound from Walter Smith, since he couldn't get enough to sell them by the bag, and leaving their doors, which were "innocent" of lock and key, hospitably open while they took the car to the big city for a holiday. In other words they settled down to the work of making "Huntington Beach" a prosperous town in the regular routine way.

The growth was gradual, very gradual. In 1909 the city was incorporated and the first city council chosen. In 1910 the first census was taken, attributing Huntington Beach with a total population of 815 people, which by 1920 had just double, totalling 1,-687 town folk.

And from that first census date the real political life of the city began, but that is another part of the story.

(To Be Continued.)

'SHEIK' VALENTINO NOW FREE TO WED

(By United Press Leased Wire)

LOS ANGELES, March 12.—At last "the Sheik" is free to have a legal wedding.

Judge Charles Crail this morning signed Jean Acker's final decree of divorce from Rodolph Valentino. The court was petitioned by Valentino's attorneys. Miss Acker did not ask for the decree of her own accord.

The entering of the final decree now leaves the former movie actor, at present doing exhibition dancing in Chicago, free to marry Winifred O'Chaughnessy Natasha Rambova Hudnut, his dancing partner and "almost wife," when he sees fit.

Valentine and Miss Hudnut were married in Mexicali last June under Mexican laws, but the state of California refused to recognize the marriage because he had only his intercocutory decree. He was arrested on a charge of bigamy, but the case was dismissed after a preliminary hearing.

LINCOLN SCHOOL FOLK GIVEN GIFT OF MILK

Children in the kindergarten class of the Lincoln grammar school here today were licking their lips in anticipation of a daily gift of two gallons of pure milk from the dairy department of the Orange county farm bureau.

Bright eyes and red lips gave tribute to Miss Zora Huddleston of the California Dairy council, who told Orange county dairymen, at a luncheon held at the Cat 'n' Fiddle last Saturday, how much good the milk would do the children.

Following her talk on pure milk, the aims of California dairymen and the value of milk to young children, the luncheon gathering immediately voted to send daily two gallons of the highest grade Orange county milk to the Lincoln school kindergarten children, according to the report made by W. M. Cory, assistant farm advisor.

Advising Advisers—

Depositors in a well-known bank pay nothing extra for the privilege

There is seldom a day in which the head of some large county enterprise does not consult the First National about his or her company's financial problems.

This sort of advisory service is based on the entire experience of a great banking institution rather than that of any one man. It takes into account factors beyond the reach of the individual.

And this service is not limited to the heads of great businesses—it is yours for the asking.

BEACH POST TO CAMPAIGN FOR MEMBERS

HUNTINGTON BEACH, March 12.—A campaign for membership was inaugurated at the regular meeting of the American Legion Friday evening, March 9, in the I. O. O. F. hall.

The present paid-up membership of the Legion were divided into two teams to be headed by Captains Lou Mitchell and C. G. Blair. Intense rivalry between the groups is anticipated, as the team securing the least number of new members are pledged to treat the other team to a royal "feed." The battle ends at the regular meeting, the first Friday in April.

Practically the entire evening Friday was spent in enthusiastic discussions of the best means of securing new men for the post. The initiation which was to have been held with the aid of representatives of the Santa Ana post, was postponed until the campaign is over. A big feed which the boys had sent up to the hall at the end of the discussions gave the festive touch to the occasion.

TINY PIANISTS WILL APPEAR ON PROGRAM

HUNTINGTON BEACH, March 12—Little Misses whose toes will not nearly reach the pedals, and accomplished young women who will display the art of real technique, are co-operating with Mrs. Alma B. Chalmers, local piano instructor, in preparing the piano recital to be presented at the club house on Monday evening.

Those who attended the recital presented by this same group several months ago are looking for an evening of real artistic enjoyment.

LONG BEACH PASTOR WILL ADDRESS CLUB

HUNTINGTON BEACH, March 12—"The Lights of Egypt" will be the subject of an address to be delivered by the Rev. Henry Kendall Booth, pastor of the First Congregational church of Long Beach, before the regular meeting of the Woman's Club Tuesday afternoon, March 13 at 2:30 o'clock.

To have secured Rev. Booth is considered quite a triumph for Miss Bertha Proctor, the local librarian, who has charge of the program, as he has previously been sought for lectures at the Beach. This particular address, which Mr. Booth recently gave in Pasadena, is the result of personal investigations and experiences in Egypt.

Is Rotary Member

The Rotarians chose Rev. Booth as one of their national representatives to the International Council in Edinburgh in 1922. His local congregation in Long Beach made him a present of a visit to the Holy Land at the same time.

It is probable that Miss Ivy Lake, also of Long Beach, who is the organist for the Choral Club, of Southern California and is often referred to as "the second Paderweski" will play several piano selections as a part of the musical program.

Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. James Wallin, a comparative new vocalist at the Beach, will sing a group of songs, accompanied by Mrs. Willis Rennie.

SCHOOL TEACHER IS RECOVERING RAPIDLY

HUNTINGTON BEACH, March 12.—Mrs. Harriett Reynolds, fourth grade teacher of the grammar school, who underwent a serious operation at the Clara Barton hospital recently, is reported to be recovering rapidly and will be moved soon to the home of relatives in Riverside. She is not expected back to teach before the last month of the year.

P. W. Hallisey, 220 Crest avenue, has returned to his home from Santa Ana hospital. His daughter, Gertrude, teacher in the Long Beach schools, spent the week with him.

WOMAN SINGS SOLO

HUNTINGTON BEACH, March 12—Mrs. Lucy Goddard of the "Massachusetts Cottage," Eleventh street, who is spending the winter at Elsinore, sang the solo selections at the Methodist church of that city last Sunday according to reports received by friends here yesterday.

MARCH 15 SELECTED DATE FOR OPERA BY BEACH HIGH SCHOOL

HUNTINGTON BEACH, March 12.—Thursday evening, March 15, the students of the Huntington Beach union high school will stage another feature performance in the presentation of the "Mikado" by the musical department.

The almost nightly rehearsals reveal that the youthful musical comedians have their parts well in hand and will put on a finished production.

Although the entire cast has not been publicly announced, the following are among those who will star in the leading roles: Edith Colburn, John Sogen, Earl Sullivan, Katherine Thomas, Opal Dowty, Dorothy Mayhew and Helen Turner.

There will be approximately twenty-five in the chorus and the high school orchestra will furnish the musical score.

STUNT MOVIES ARE PRESENTED AT SHOW

HUNTINGTON BEACH, March 12—"Maxwell Movies" and a radio concert proved a delight to a large audience in the grammar school auditorium. The entertainment was given by the Maxwell people as an advertisement for their wares and proved of great interest in its stunt tests.

In the afternoon, preceding the performance, a string of the red cars, gaily pracarded, "honked" their way through all of the main thoroughfares of the city. While on Friday afternoon drivers demonstrated the reality of the stunt pictures shown on the screen by doing them before the down town pedestrians.

TRUSTEES ARE TO BE PICKED AT BEACH

HUNTINGTON BEACH, March 12—One trustee from each school district, the union high school and the grammar school, are to be chosen at the annual election March 30.

Both of the men now holding office have consented to run again. C. A. Johnson, if elected, will retain his position on the board of The union high school, and W. L. McKenney will continue as president of the grammar school board. There has been no opposition to the ticket in either case.

CAMPFIRE GIRLS TO GIVE ENTERTAINMENT

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Mar. 12—Not to be outdone by the Boys' Scouts, the Camp Fire Girls are also seeking means of securing a lodge for their home.

They are especially ambitious and not only desire a Huntington Beach home, which they will undoubtedly find in some corner of the new school building, since they are an organization of the Grammar School, but also they desire a mountain home where they may camp in the summer.

Plan Community Night

A free community night will be presented the patrons of the Grammar school by the Manaraha group of Camp Fire Girls, under the direction of Miss Henrietta Horne and Miss Dorothy Mosher, Friday evening, March 23, in the form of a play by the members of the group.

NOTABLE CAST SUPPORTS JACKIE COOGAN

Jackie Coogan in his first superproduction for First National, "Oliver Twist," will be seen at the Yost theater for five days beginning tomorrow.

"Oliver Twist" is by far the greatest offering Jackie has made, and with the notable cast of players surrounding him, achieves his biggest success.

Chief in Jackie's support is Lon Chaney, enacting the role of Fagin. Next comes Gladys Brockwell. Others include George Siegmann, Lionel Belmore, Carl Stockdale, Edouard Trebaol, Taylor Graves, Florence Hale, Joan Standing and a host of others equally important.

Charles Dickens wrote "Oliver Twist" with the vision of an adorable youth in mind. Jackie Coogan realizes Dickens' version.

"RACING HEARTS" SHOWING AT WEST END

Perhaps one-tenth of the dangers encountered in motion picture production reach and are appreciated by the fans who see the finished photoplay.

No greater example of this truth exists than "Racing Hearts," a picture starring Agnes Ayres and now showing at the West End theater.

Time after time during the filming of the big automobile racing scenes dangerous skids, near-accidents took place while the huriting cars roared around the track. But many of these were entirely out of sight of the camera eye.

One example of a thrill that was actually caught by the comera and is a guaranteed breath-taker was that in which Miss Ayres, driving her powerful automobile, skids around a curve at 75 miles an hour and smashes into baled hay piled at the turn for the protection of spectators.

However, the cameras kept grinding away on the scene, with the result that one of the most thrilling moments in motion picture history has reached the screen in "Racing Hearts." Theodore Roberts and Richard Dix are featured players in Miss Ayres' support.

"BROADWAY ROSE" AT PRINCESS TOMORROW

Throbbing with the life of New York's Broadway and built on a background filled full of the gaiety of the theatrical world, "Broadway Rose," a fragrant contribution to the screen will be shown for two days at the Princess theater starting tomorrow.

Fearing that he will arouse his father's wrath and thereby lose the family millions, Hugh Thompson, the bridegroom, keeps his marital ties secret from his parents' household.

Through his influence, the mother-in-law invites Rosalie to an afternoon tea. There the austere hostess, not knowing of her son's marriage, tells her daughter-in-law that she was invited to help entertain the guests by dancing.

Angeder by the suggestion but believing that it is her husbands wish, Rosalie dances. When she has finished Mrs. Peter Thompson, the mother offers to pay her. At this Rosalie loses her self-control.

When Thompson persists in refusing to explain his nuptial bonds to his father, Rosalie gives him his freedom, and wedding bells ring for her and Tom Darcy, an old "pal" who was raised on a neighboring farm.

Mae Murray as Rosalie Lawerence, is the sparkling, dazzling dancer of Broadway. As usual, Miss Murray is at her best in the terpischorean role, from which she advanced some years ago to stardom. She is well supported by a cast composed of Monte Blue as Tom Darcy, Ray Bloomer as Hugh Thompson and others.

There will be two matinees each day at 1:30 and 3:15 o'clock and two shows each evening at 6:30 and 8:45 o'clock.

PROGRESSIVE LEADER WILL BE BUSY

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Senator LaFollette will be busy this summer. While other senators seek surcease from toil in Europe or in vacation haunts nearer home, the stocky little bushy-haired Wisconsin fighter will be mapping out a Napoleonic campaign for the next congress.

For the next congress is to be controlled, if Senator LaFollette has his way, by the progressive bloc, of which he is the chosen head. To insure this control, strategy of a high order must be resorted to. Mr. LaFollette will spend the summer concocting strategy.

He has two main purposes in mind. Of details he will not talk. The two big ideas he is going to try to translate into action are those:

1—To make the balance of power which theoretically will lie in the hands of newly elected and hold-over progressives in both houses a fact instead of a theory; to make it a control that will begin with the first day of congress and will not be relinquished even when the 68th congress expires.

2—To organize the country in support of the progressive bloc in congress.

If Senator LaFollette succeeds, a third party will inevitably be the result, in the opinion of both Republican and Democratic politicians here. They believe the chances are against him.

Fire From Both Sides

The reason they predict failure is that Mr. LaFollette's little group of progressives will be under a continuous cross fire from both Republicans and Democrats. Regulars in both parties, seeing a menace to the political status quo, will make common cause, the belief, is, against the new bloc, whenever they are not attempting to combine with it in order themselves to control the house or the senate.

Senator LaFollette's block must combine with some other group to win. Standing alone, in either House or Senate, the progressives will not be numerous enough to do anything. It is only in coalition with either the Democrats or Republicans that they can prove decisive. They will of course combine more often with the Democrats than with the Republicans, since they are, for the most part, rebels against the present control of the Republican party. But they are also out of sympathy with the control of the Democratic party, hence their combination with Democrats will be a matter of expediency purely, and not a permanent arrangement.

They have no intention, Mr. La Follette and other members of the bloc have clearly stated, of being absorbed by either party. They want to keep themselves distinctive, alone, free lances and rangers at large.

Their effectiveness depends, in large measure, therefore, Senator LaFollette believes, upon the support of the country. To get that support, they must inform the country of what they are trying to do, and stir up public sentiment that will force one or the other of the major parties to line up with them in support of progressive legislation.

In other words, Senator LaFollette hopes to make his groups in house and senate the mouthpieces and effective agents of the great mass of the people, to the confounding of "reactionaries" in both parties.

LaFollette and all his colleagues disclaim utterly any intention of creating a new party. But they will not run away from the responsibility of a new party, if the people form one back of them.

During the spring and summer Mr. LaFollette will hold many conferences here with members of the People's legislative service, the nationwide organization of progressives which is to work with the organized progressive block in congress. At the same time, committees of the house and senate blocs will be preparing legislation on the railroad, agricultural, taxation, shipping and other national problems, to be presented to the 68th congress.

HIGH COST OF HIGHWAYS IS CUT DOWN

SAN JOSE, March 12—The high cost of building good roads has been to some extent overcome in Santa Clara County, according to reports recently made by County Engineer Ryder.

The usual practice is to call for bids for repairing old roads or paving new highways, with the lowest bidder getting the contract. The new way, which the county has found a paying proposition, is to have the work done by county workmen. The contractor has to make a profit. The county only has to do the work and pay the exact cost.

Engineer Ryder reported that in the recent improvement of three of the more important roads of the county, by using his own crew and superintending the work himself, the cost of the work was some $11,000 less than the bid submitted by the lowest bidder for the work.

The county has also saved money by owning its own road quarry. In the past six months, according to Ryder's report, the county has used from its quarry 27,000 yards of rock which cost $7000. The amount used would have cost $27,000 in the open market, he said; the county ownership of its own quarry saving $20,000 in six months.

SCHOOL PUPILS HERE WORK ON POSTERS FOR EXHIBIT

Each Student Evolves Own Idea for Design to Be Entered In Contest

Art Competition Precedes Wildflower Lecture by Expert March 23

Color effects, light and shade, massed trees, high lights, all have entered into the conversation of art students in the various fifth and sixth grades and at the Washington and junior high schools here, it was learned today.

Mothers complain that daughters' school garments are all decorated with poster paint; fathers declare that son pays no attention to the fact that the grass needs cutting but stands gazing dreamily at the effect given by little pink and white daisies scattered among the tall tufts.

The reason is—"Posters!"

For every school above the fifth grade is intent on submitting the most finished work of its most artistic students in the poster competition preceding Dr. A. C. Pillsbury's lecture on the wild flowers of California to be given at the Santa Ana high school auditorium the afternoon and evening of March 23.

Prizes of tickets to the lecture offer a certain incentive to the students, but that is by far the least of it, according to art teachers of the various schools. The competitive interest between schools, the artistic impulses which find expression, the powers of observation and originality that are cultivated, all add to the interest.

Each Works Out Problem

"We are making the contest one of our regular class problems," declared Miss Edith Cornell, who, with Miss Amy Chapman, directs the activities of art students at the junior high school. "The pupils work at large poster boards with regular poster paint and each of the 150 or more students in the art course is working on an in-

LADY ROCHESTER

LONDON, England, March 12.—Lady Rochester, beautiful American daughter-in-law of the Earl of Carnarvon, has been a prominent figure in the society group which gathered in the Valley of the Nile to view the discoveries of the English peer at the tomb of King Tut-Ankh-Amen, according to word received here from Egypt.

Lady Rochester is the wife of the Earl of Carnarvon's only son. Before her marriage she was Catherine T. Wendell of New York.

When the exploration party left England, Lady Rochester insisted that she be a member.

"I realize that there may be many dangers and many of the comforts I enjoy here will not be possible," she said, "but I am gambler enough to take a chance."

PROPOSE SALE OF 'PIONEER' BUILDING

Structure Housing Laundry at Fifth St. and Broadway Offered

What fate is in store for the brick structure at the southwest corner of Fifth street and Broadway—one of Santa Ana's "pioneer buildings"—was a question asked here today as the Broadway Improvement company, its owner, prepared to meet at the First National bank here at 10 a. m. tomorrow to open sealed bids for the property.

The prospect that the building, which the Santa Ana laundry at present occupies, may pass to new owners, who may either erect a new and modern business structure in its place, or remodel it, was being discussed.

The Broadway Improvement company is composed of the former stockholders of the Santa Ana Steam Laundry company, whose name was changed at the time the laundry business and plant was sold to the Southern Service company.

Several Bids Received

It is understood that the decision to receive sealed proposals for purchase of the corner was made to satisfy some of the stockholders who believe that if a fair cash offer is made it would be better to sell than to hold and improve the property.

According to C. L. Pritchard, secretary of the company, with whom bids must be filed before 10 a. m. tomorrow, a number of proposals have been received, indicating that there is some interest on the part of prospective buyers.

The building in which the laundry is operating is one of the early brick constructions in this city. It is regarded as one of the most substantially constructed of buildings of its type in Santa Ana.

Built in 1888

George Bessonette, a building contractor, erected it about 1888 or 1890. He built it for himself for use as a livery stable. Bessonnette is now a resident of Bell, near Los Angeles.

With C. W. Burns as manager, the laundry plant was moved from West Fourth street to the present site in 1903, after the old livery barn had been altered and made adaptable to the purposes of the laundry.

The Southern Service company is now constructing a large new laundry building on East Fourth street and when it is completed will install new and modern machinery, according to J. K. Crisswell, manager of the laundry. It will probably not be possible to transfer operations of the company to the new building until May, owing to unexpected delays in construction work, it was said.

PAINTER, ONCE COWBOY, WINS WORLD FAME

Tustin Man and C. M. Russell, Artist, Rode Range Together Long Ago

From a young Montana cowboy in the days when the West was wooly to a nationally recognized artist, one of whose pictures has recently been sold to the Prince of Wales for $10,000, is far cry.

But that is the case of Charles M. Russell, well known for his typically Western pictures and boyhood pal and cowpuncher bunkie of H. T. Duckett, of Tustin, former business manager of The Register.

In addition to selling a picture to the Prince of Wales, Russell recently sold one to Dougles Fairbanks, also at a large figure.

One of Duckett's most prized possessions is a letter of some twenty pages written to him by Russell. The letter, which is said to be one of the few Russell has ever written, for his literary efforts are few, is illustrated on every page with pictures of the people and places the two men knew together when they rode the ranges in the good old days neary forty years ago.

"The West isn't what it used to be," said Russell in telling Duckett on his last visit here of the many changes in the people and the country in Montana, where he spends his summers.

Deploring the fact that the wild ranges and long sweeping plains, once the joy of the cowboy, are now "just like Iowa," all cut up into farming lands, Russell reminds Duckett that the old West is gone forever.

"When Russell was very young, in the days we were riding the ranges together, he used to paint very clever pictures," said Duckett, in describing the natural passion that Russell has always had for his art.

"He's just a self made artist, or a natural artist, without training, but his pictures are commanding prices which equal those of many artists in America, I believe. Many of his pictures have sold for as high as $5,000 to $10,000."

Wears Cowpuncher Garb.

Typically a part of the old west, which is fast disappearing, Russell still affects the cowpuncher attire.

Loose trousers, topped with the cowboy sash, high-topped, high-heeled riding boots and a sombrero give him an appearance which would not indicate that he is an artist whose perfect concept of the artistic in the life on the ranges made him famous.

"Russell still loves the cowboy country," said Duckett, "and the outdoor life and spends his happiest months and does his best work in the wildest country he can find in Montana and in the other northwestern states.

Good Story Teller.

"The best story teller in the country is a title accorded Russell wherever he goes. He has an inexhaustible supply of good stories and tells them in a way which just naturally can't be duplicated."

A little book, containing some of his best short stories of the people and life of the old range days, has recently been published by Russell. It is called "Rawhide Rawlins Stories" and is illustrated throughout with pen sketches of the characters and country described.

An autographed copy of this book was sent to Duckett, who values it highly and who treasures in his memory the happy days when he and Russell were pals in the great outdoors.

The famous artist is now spending the winter in Santa Barbara. He maintains a studio in Los Angeles and also exhibits his pictures in Southern California galleries.

HUNTINGON BEACH VETS' CAMP SCENE

Veterans of Southern California will frolic at Huntington Beach again this summer, O. H. Maryatt, of this city, announced today, following a meeting of the executive committee of the Southern California Veterans' association, held in Los Angeles.

Santa Monica was again a strong contender for the privilege of entertaining the annual encampment of the association, but Huntington Beach won. It is understood that a large percentage of veterans residing in the northern section of the district favored Santa Monica.

The date for the encampment was selected—July 31 to August 10.

WILL CONSIDER PLAN FOR BIG UNION BIBLE CLASS THIS SUMMER

Local Church Folk Expect To Discuss Situation at Meet Tonight

PASTORS APPROVE

Will Tell Stories of Old and New Testament If School Is Held

The simple, moving, and ever beautiful story of the nativity of Christ; the fascinating tale of Jonah and the whale; the dramatic record of the Prodigal son, and the scores of other Biblical gems which have endured for hundreds of years will always bear re-telling, according to the Rev. F. T. Porter and others interested in the plan to develop one big Bible school here this summer.

Plans were to be developed at a meeting to be held at the First Baptist church here tonight.

"The Bible," said the Rev. Mr. Porter, "is packed with human interest, rich in literary values, and is a never-ending source of inspiration to young and old.

Will Interest Children.

"How appropriate, then, that we should, at the summer Bible classes, tell again the old, old stories. They interested our fathers, they will interest our children.

"But, important as this is, there will be other interesting and instructive features in connection with the summer classes.

"At the meeting to be held at the First Baptist church tonight, when superintendents, teachers, ministers and others will be present, it is hoped that preliminary plans will be worked out for the adoption of some of the features suggested.

"Chief among these may be mentioned the teaching of the old and familiar hymns to the young people; the magic of the story hour; the talks on Americanization, guiding the young mind aright in national thinking, and the useful adjuncts, such as basket weaving,

THE A. B. C.

—An Aid to Advertisers Both Local and National

THE Audit Bureau of Circulations is an Association of publishers, advertisers and advertising agencies who are co-operating to standardize and verify circulation data and thus place the buying of space on a basis of "Known Value."

The Bureau was established in 1914 and now numbers among its members the majority of the leaders in the publishing and advertising fields of the United States and Canada.

Twice a year the publisher makes a report to the Bureau showing total circulation and details of distribution by states, cities, towns, suburbs and rural districts; also subscription rates and facts about contests, premiums and club offers. Once a year these statements and all office books and records are audited by one of the Bureau's experts. The publisher-members agree to permit examination by the Auditor of all records considered necessary by the Bureau.

By means of the A. B. C. audit reports, which are issued on all member-publications, the advertiser can analyze the circulation of a paper and determine its value to him as an advertising medium.

By patronizing A. B. C. papers, advertisers guard their own interests and also participate in this nation-wide movement to place advertising on a sound, business-like basis.

THE LEEDS BANK ROBBERY

BY E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM

Copyright, 1923, by E. Phillips Oppenheim
Distr. NEA Service, Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

MICHAEL SAYERS, arch criminal, is about to be arrested by a police officer when his maid servant,

JANET SOALE, shoots and kills the officer.

SIR NORMAN GREYES, formerly of Scotland Yard, is devoting his time to tracking down Sayers, known to him under the alias of Stanfield.

Michael drives in a small car to Brown's bank in the suburbs of Leeds, shoots the manager through the shoulder, strikes the clerk senseless and robs the bank of over 7000 pounds. Stepping from the bank into a touring car in which Janet Soale awaits him. Sayers races for Scotland.

On the road to Scotland the notes are passes to two men in motor cars and a third in a motorcycle, leaving no evidence on Michael's person.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

Michael Sayers Talks.

We were off again in less than ten seconds. Our third stop was at the top of a hill forty miles farther north, after we had partaken of a picnic lunch in the car. A man was seated motionless in a large touring-car, headed in our direction. He held out his arms as we approached, and glanced at his watch.

"Wonderful!" he murmured. "You are three minutes to the good."

I handed him the third packet. He waved his hand and started up his engine. I leaned back and lighted a cigaret.

"I have now," I remarked, "only one anxiety."

"And that?" Janet inquired quickly.

"About the greens at Kinbrae," I confided. "I met a man last year who told me that they were apt to get dried up."

She smiled.

"We had plenty of rain last month," she reminded me, "I thought you were going to speak of our friend."

I shook my head.

"Norman Greyes is in Norway," I told her. "I am not sure," I went on, after a moment's hesitation, "whether I do not sometimes regret it."

"Why?"

I looked out across the heather-clad moor to where rolling masses of yellow gorse seemed to melt into the blue haze. It was a very wonderful day and a very wonderful country into which we were speeding.

"Norman Greyes has made life inconvenient for us for several years," I said. "One of our best men has had to devote the whole of his time watching him. We have been obliged to stay away from places which I very much wanted to visit. He has that absurd gift—he always had—of being able to connect a particular undertaking with a particular person. For that reason we have had to remain idle until we are practically paupers. When we have paid the expenses of this coup, and paid the staff, there will be barely enough left to keep us until Christmas. If we could get rid of Norman Greyes, we could seek wider fields."

"Why not?" she asked indifferently. "He is only a man like the others."

I pretended to be deep in thought. As a matter of fact, I was studying Janet. No creature or servant in this world could render such faithful service as she has rendered me; yet I am one of those persons gifted with instincts. I know that she has a strange mind, a strange, tumultuously passionate nature. I have so far been the man of her life. If it were not I, I sometimes wonder whether it might not be Norman Greyes.

We were to have one tense few minutes before we reached our stopping-place for the night. We had just passed through a small town, and our silent chauffeur was preparing to let out his engine again, when we were confronted by what was, under the circumstances, a very sinister sight. Two men on bicycles, approached us, dismounted and stood in the middle of the road with outstretched hands. The sun, even in the distance, flashed upon their uniforms. We realized at once that they were policemen. The chauffeur half turned toward me.

"What shall you do?" Janet demanded.

"Do?" I replied. "Why, the natural thing, of course. All this is provided for. —Oliver," I added, leaning forward, "those policemen seem to want to speak to us. Pull up."

We came to a standstill a yard or two away from them. The larger of the two men, who wore the uniform of a sergeant, made a solemn and portentous approach.

"Good afternoon, Sergeant," I said. "I hope that we are not in trouble?"

He looked at me as he might have done at a man whose hands were dripping with the blood of his best friend.

"It's your number-plate, sir," he announced. They telephoned us through from Ripon to stop your car and call your attention to it."

"What is wrong with my number-plate?" I asked.

"Why, you've been driving where they've watered the roads freely," the sergeant pointed out, "and it's muddied it up entirely. There's no one can read a letter of it."

I felt Janet's fingers clutch mine, and they were as cold as ice. It was not a moment which I myself forgot, less for its significance than for its effect upon my companion. The chauffeur, the police-sergeant and I solemnly inspected the number-plate; and the former, with a duster from his tool-chest, carefully rubbed it clean.

"That will be all right now, Sergeant?" I inquired.

"That will be quite all right, sir," he admitted, taking off his cap and wiping the perspiration from his forehead. "It's a warm day, this, for the bicycles."

"I am sorry to have given you this trouble," I said. "We tourists are proverbially thoughtless about our number-plates. I hope you will accept this and have a drink with me."

"We will that, sure, sir," the sergeant promised, saluting first me and then Janet. "Come along, Jock," he added: "we'll pay a little visit to the Widow MacGill on the way back."

So we drove off again northward. My chauffeur was an elderly man, who has faced all that the world may hold of evil with me many a time, but his driving for the first few miles was erratic. Janet, I could see, although outwardly she had recovered herself, was on the point of hystrics. I settled myself down in my corner, adjusted my horn-rimmed spectacles, and drew from the pocket of the car a new half-crown book on the principles of golf, written by a late beginner. So we traveled until we reached the inn where we stayed for the night, and late on the following day we arrived at our destination. There was just a bare white house, a lodge, the gate of which was held open by a great, raw-boned gillie, miles of what semed to be interminable moorland, and below, the sea. I looked around with satisfaction.

"You're Sandy MacLane, the caretaker here?" I asked, leaning out of the car.

He made a noise which sounded like "Oo ay!"

"Which way might the golf links be?" I inquired.

He pointed with a long and hairy forefinger.

"The clubhouse is yonder," he vouchsafed a bit somberly. "A step across the road is the fifteenth tee."

I sighed with content.

"Come up to the house," I ordered. "After tea I shall play a few holes."

Sir Norman Continues

My friend Rimmington called to see me on the night of my return from Norway. He looked around with an air of dismay at my various traveling paraphernalia.

"So you're really off, then?" he remarked.

"On the contrary, I've just returned," I told him. "It was too late to do any good, and I made a mistake in changing my river. The whole thing was a frost."

Rimmington sighed.

"Well, I'm glad to see you back," he declared, sinking into my easy-chair. "All the same, London in August isn't exactly a paradise!"

"Tell me about Leeds," I suggested. "To judge from the newspapers, you seem to be having a lot of trouble about a very simple case."

Rimmington frowned. He was silent for several moments, and glancing across at him, I noticed that he was pale and apparently out of sorts.

"I think I'm stale, Greyes," he confessed. "The Chief pretty well hinted the same thing, and worse, when I got back last night, I really dropped round to see whether you could help me."

"If I can, I will with pleasure," I promised him. "You know that."

"You read the bare account of the affair, of course," Rimmington went on. "Two fairly credible witnesses deposed to seeing a man in a gray flannel suit, with a Panama hat pushed over his eyes, drive up in a Ford car, leave it outside Bailey's grocery stores, walk down the street and turn into the Boulevard where the bank is situated, exactly at the time that the robbery took place. Three women and two children saw him pass up the street two minutes later, and thirty seconds after that, he crossed the street and entered Bailey's grocery stores. The clerk who served him with some marmalade, tea and bacon, saw him climb up into the Ford and drive away. The man was known at the shop as Ralph Roberson. There is no doubt that it was his car.

"Half an hour after the robbery, Roberson was arrested at his house—he was cleaning the car at the time—and although he had changed his clothes, the light gray suit which he had recently worn was discovered in his bedroom, and the Panama hat, warm with perspiration, in a cupboard. His excuse for changing his clothes was that he put on older things in which to clean the car, and his account of the morning was that he had driven straight up to Bailey's stores for some groceries and straight back again. Two witnesses are ready to swear that they saw him get out of the Ford and go toward the bank; the grocer's clerk, who served him, is absolutely certain that he was in the shop within thirty seconds of the Ford's pulling up outside, and that when he left he drove straight away."

"What sort of man is this Roberson?" I asked.

"A man of bad character," was the prompt reply. "He was once a bookmaker, but failed. He has been in prison for obtaining goods by false pretenses, and there are half a dozen summonses for debt out against him at the present moment. The only little money he earns, nowadays, seems to be acting as a bookmaker's tout. He knew the neighborhood well, and has once been heard to remark upon the isolated position of the bank. In every respect he is just the man to have done it, and yet there are all my witnesses swearing to different things. Furthermore, he had scarcely a shilling in his pocket, and he confessed that he was going to try and sell the car that afternoon to raise a little money."

"It seems to me," I admitted, "that you have been a little premature in framing your case against Mr. Ralph Roberson."

"So the magistrates thought," Rimmington rejoined dryly. "We managed to get two remands. This morning he was discharged."

"If the grocer's assistant is telling the truth," I remarked thoughtfully, "Roberson could not possibly have committed the robbery. What sort of young man is the assistant?"

"Highly respectable and very intelligent," Rimmington replied. "It would be quite impossible at any time to shake his evidence."

"So much for Mr. Ralph Roberson," I said. "And now who else is there?"

"That's the difficulty," Rimmington confessed. "One doesn't know where to turn. The only other two people who were about the spot at the same moment, were a man and his wife touring up to Scotland in a big Dartier car. They stopped to make some purchases at Bailey's but neither of them alighted."

"Any description of the man?" I asked.

"Yes, the grocer's assistant who went out to take the order remembers him. He describes him as a sporting-looking gentleman wearing a brown alpaca dust-coat and a gray Homburg hat. Such a person could not possibly have left the car and walked down the street without notice."

"Any description of the woman?"

Rimmington shook his head.

"To tell you the truth," he confessed," I didn't ask for one. There were guns and cartridge-magazines and golf-clubs on the top of the car. The two were apparently motoring up to some place they had hired in Scotland."

On the face of it, there seemed to be no possible connection between these tourists and a local bank robbery. Yet the thought of them lingered obstinately in my mind. A man and a woman, a bank robbery, and the fact that I was supposed to be safe in Norway! I began to take up the pieces of the puzzle once more, and fit them in according to my own devices.

SCHOOL PUPILS HERE WORK ON POSTERS FOR EXHIBIT

dividual phase of the problem.

"Designs range from realistic to purely imaginary and show flowers, birds, trees and almost any outdoor scene one can imagine. The contest is especially valuable in encouraging originality in the young people for each plans and designs his own poster."

At Washington school thirty completed posters today were in readiness to submit to the judges who will meet tomorrow afternoon at 3:15 o'clock at the junior high school. Miss Mary Carroll of the Washington school art department told of the enthusiasm of the young people in working on the posters and declared that if all the 240 youngsters who are taking art had submitted designs, they would have flooded the market. Like those at the junior high school, the pupils have followed their own ideas and depicted wild flowers of the Yosemite valley together with the birds which will also have a prominent place in Pillsbury's lecture and picture display.

Picture Wild Flowers

"Our young people have pictured the wild flowers," declared Miss Carroll, "and I am sure that in some cases their birds are even wilder than the flowers, but the results as a whole are most gratifying and we feel that some of our designs are going to merit prizes."

"The children have seemed quite thrilled over the whole affair and have been most faithful in working out their own ideas, some of them sitting up long past their accustomed bed-time to study out some new grouping or arrangement of the flowers they are using."

Nor are the junior high and Washington schools alone in opportunity to enter the contest. Sixth grade pupils of the elementary schools are eligible to submit designs. These pupils would come under the departments of Miss Edna Copeland of Franklin school, Miss Mary Coffman and Miss Louise Claybaugh, Jefferson school: Miss Florence Hullsick and Miss Maggie Mae Moore, John Muir school; Miss Edna Ingham and Miss Minnie Penman, Lincoln school; Miss Edith Stangl and Miss Hattie Hutton, Lowell school; Miss Grace White and Miss Eunice Bauer, McKinley school; Miss Hazel Maxwell and Miss Esther Jean Davis, Roosevelt school, and Miss Margaret Ecklo and Miss Gretchen Lieberman, Spurgeon school.

Committees Appointed

Completed posters are to be displayed at the junior high school and that afternoon at 3:15 o'clock judgment will be rendered by a committee appointed by Mrs. J. U. Viau, chairman of the P.-T. A. committee on posters. These judges will be headed by Miss Evylena Nunn, prominent artist, and will include Mrs. John Clarkson, president of Ebell club; Miss Verna E. Wells, principal of Roosevelt school; Mrs. Eugene Robinson and Eleanor Young Elliott, newspaper writers.

Miss Elizabeth Lavelle, Giffy's governess, who runs the school, and Harrison Trowbridge, Columbia graduate, who joined the Pinchot entourage last summer as a tutor.

Ten children were selected as schoolmates of Giffy from a list of 37 picked from public school lists. All are between the ages of six and nine; there are five boys and five girls, including children of two machinists, a lawyer, a detective, a plumber, a grocer, a shoemaker, a merchant, a druggist, and a state employe.

"Children were selected by mental and other tests," said Miss Lavelle, "and on consideration of each child's individual characteristics and energy."

SHOOT CONTEST WON BY YATES

Former Deputy Sheriff F. J. Yates defeated Former Deputy C. M. Wood, and won the coveted .44 caliber revolver which was the prize in the unique wager.

The affair was one of long standing. When both men, now patrolmen at Fullerton, were employed by the county, they agreed to participate in a shooting contest, the winner to take the other's gun.

They met on the field of honor in Fullerton. A fourteen-inch target, with two circles, three and six inches in diameter, was erected. Six shots, fired on the draw, were the requirements.

The two men, Wood, the son of a former Kentucky mountain feudsman, and Yates, the son of a pioneer in the Colorado Rockies, lined up before the target. Wood shot first.

His first three attempts struck their mark, all within the larger circle. The next three shots, fired too hastily, perhaps, went wild. They failed to find the target.

Yates followed. Shooting from the draw and without sighting the weapon, the Colorado man fired six bullets, directly into the target, all within the larger circle. Three landed within the three inch circle, the others within the larger ring.

In accordance with the agreement, Wood surrendered his revolver to the winner. Motorcycle Officer Rudy of Fullerton was referee. Wood, however, purchased the gun again from Yates, paying virtually the retail price for the weapon.

INSURE $75 MOVIE AUTO FOR $10,000

LOS ANGELES, March 12.—The world's most valuable flivver rattled its fenders proudly today, for it had just been insured for $10,000.

And this despite the fact that its cash value is about $75.

The flivver belongs to the Paramount company, and is being used to carry the corpulent Walter Hiers and beautiful Jacqueline Logan around Hollywood in a picture called "Sixty Cents An Hour."

The flivver, distinctive for its decrepitude, has appeared in a majority of the scenes "shot" thus far. The scenes include some important closeups of its anatomy.

Because it has been "registered" in so many scenes, it would be very hard to duplicate it in case it was stolen or destroyed, the Paramount company today insured it for $10,000. In case it was destroyed, it would be necessary to "retake" nearly all of the scenes at heavy expense.

You wouldn't buy an auto like you would a lottery ticket

Then why buy an electric cleaner that way?

There are Fords, Cadillacs and Rolls-Royces among electric cleaners. Out of the many on the market, the ROYAL stands forth as a Rolls-Royce.

In actual demonstration, pitted against other cleaners, it proves itself the best in the long run, in speed, in economy, in thoroughness of service.

So buy your vacuum cleaner as you would an automobile. Demand that it be demonstrated. A good demonstration for wise buyers is to clean a rug with the ROYAL after some other cleaner has done its best. Then you'll know why 35,000 women in Sunny California enjoy rolling up ROYAL mileage.

"Jerry Raine," wrote Editor Huff in reply, "is the chief of police of this city and I was told at the post-office today that he recently sent a package to Santa Ana."

Almost in the same mail came a letter from Chief of Police Raine.

"I am the sender of that package," he wrote, "which should contain a quilt and a quantity of hickory nuts, and was addressed to Mrs. F. E. Foor, 415 S. Shelton street, Santa Ana."

The package was delivered.

WANT TO VOTE ON CHARTER? REGISTER!

City Clerk Ed Vegely today called the attention of unregistered voters to the fact that they must register on or before next Saturday if they desire to vote at the charter election to be held April 17. Registered voters who have moved from one precinct to another must transfer, otherwise they will lose their vote.

Vegely estimated that approximately 400 transfers were recorded by voters in preparation for the municipal election to be held on April 9. It indicates there has been many changes in addresses since the start of the new registration a year ago.

J. P. Baumgartner, editor of The Register, will talk on the proposed charter tomorrow night at the meeting of the Book Review club to be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Nealley and for which members will gather at the usual hour of 8 o'clock.

PROWLER SLAIN AS HE IGNORES ORDER

(By United Press Leased Wire)

LOS ANGELES, March 12.—When L. E. Tyson met a strange man between his house and the home next door, he thought he saw the sulker reach for a gun, but Tyson shot the man dead without any further preliminaries.

Tyson told police he had captured a man in the rear of his home three weeks ago only to have him escape. When he heard a noise last night he armed himself with a gun and ran out. When Tyson commanded the prowler to throw up his hands the man ran towards him.

At the receiving hospital, police found a note which indicated the dently a recent arrival from Berke- dead man was C. T. Williams, eviley.

ALLEGED INTOXICATED PILOT'S HEARING SET

Charged with operating an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, M. Kuykendall, arrested Friday night by city police, was in the county jail awaiting preliminary hearing before Justice J. B. Cox, April 19 at 10 a. m.

Kuykendall was arrested near the intersection of Fourth and Main streets last Friday night.

Cecil K. Moon, arrested with Kuykendall, and charged with transporting liquor, was awaiting trial April 26 at 2 p. m. following his plea of not guilty when he was arraigned last Saturday.

Moon, who was ordered to leave the city several months ago, was held under $500 bail.

HEARING DATE SET IN THEFT ATTEMPT CASE

Nelson Cheney and Ray Webb, arrested on West Fourth street last Friday night on suspicion of an attempted hold-up were in the county jail today awaiting preliminary hearing on burglary charges, scheduled to take place before Justice J. B. Cox April 25.

They were held in default of $2,000 bail each.

Cheney and Webb, Canadians, were said to have confessed to the burglary of the Hornaday second hand store, on North Sycamore street, January 14. When they were arrested, a .32 caliber automatic pistol was said to have been taken from Webb, and two others, which Hornaday identified, were found in the room occupied by the boys, police stated.

AUTO CRASH MAN IN CRITICAL CONDITION

Although Thomas Holliwell, at the community hospital, may recover from injuries sustained in an automobile collision at Second and Spurgeon streets last Friday, his condition was still regarded as critical today.

Holliwell was suffering from torn ligaments about his chest and lungs. For a short time after he was taken to the hospital, his wife was dispaired of, it was said, but today his condition was reported as "slightly improved."

Bimonthly meetings are held the next to be at Glendale.

LEGIONNAIRES TO VISIT ANGEL CITY?

Two hundred thousand delegates and visitors to the national convention of the American Legion in San Francisco next October will be brought to Los Angeles and the Southland, if a campaign launched in Los Angeles by the Los Angeles County Council of the American Legion and the Chamber of Commerce are successful, it become known here today.

Legionnaires of Orange and other counties are expected to join in the program.

E. H. Risdon, of Pasadena, a member of the committee and vice chairman of the American athletic committee of California, will endeavor to bring to Los Angeles all the world's greatest athletes to compete in the stadium at Exposition park.

It is understood that no effort will be made to stage a pageant or parade during the period the visitors are in Los Angeles. The intention is merely to give the delegates opportunity to enjoy themselves informally.

MOOSE LODGE PLAN HERE GOES AHEAD

With two subcommittees of the orangiation committee appointed, Charles Hamilton, organizer for the Loyal Order of Moose, today stated here that he anticipated organization of a lodge in this city within the next week or ten days.

The following subcommittees were named at a meeting of the organization committee Saturday night to assist Hamilton in securing the rest of the number of new names needed to complete the charter list of fifty:

Charles W. Chamberlain, Dr. Louis J. Elwood, William C. Lorenz, Robert W. McKnight and James W. Ellis, and John F. Rabe, Dr. W. C. Poole, J. H. Langston, F. W. Bows and Frank Salvik.

Hamilton is offering a prize to the committee securing the largest number of new names. The membership fee is $10, Hamilton said.

MRS. BERT KLUNK IS DEAD IN L. A.

Friends in Santa Ana and Orange county were grieved to learn of the death in Los Angeles today of Mrs. Clara Elizabeth Klunk, wife of Bert Klunk. She was 44 years of age. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Wednesday, at Pierce Brothers' undertaking parlors, 810 South Flower street, Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Klunk were formerly residents of Santa Ana, where Mr. Klunk was employed as a salesman in a clothing store. Leaving here, they moved to Orange and later to Santa Ana. Mr. Klunk is a past exalted ruler of Santa Ana Lodge No. 794, B. P. O. E.

K. V. Wolff, cashier of the National bank at Olive, is a nephew of Mrs. Klunk. Other relatives, who reside in Los Angeles, are her mother, Mrs. May E. Curtis; sister, Mrs. Inez M. Wilcott; and brother, J. W. D. Curtis.

MORE PLEDGES MADE HERE TO BOOST CLUB

With further subscriptions to the Greater Santa Ana club advertising fund bringing the total of the pledged amount to $6,078, as reported to the executive committee, meeting at a luncheon at James's cafe at noon today, and A. B. Rouselle elected third vice president with duties of looking after the finencing of the movement, plans were completed today for starting tomorrow morning on a campaign for the remainder of the $12,000 fund.

Enthusiasm marked the actions and expressions of the members present at the luncheon, and declarations were made that with more than half the sum raised without any particular effort, securing of the rest would be easy.

It is Rousselle's plan to complete the financing program this week. He is authorized to enlarge his committee to any number he may choose.

L. G. Swales, president of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, was elected fourth vice president. He will have charge of dinners, decorations, entertainments and speakers.

Through action of the committee, L. R. Crawford became second vice president, with publicity as his particular part in the general scheme of the organization.

J. A. George, who was elected vice president at the time of the organization of the committee, was made chairman of the ways and means committee.

President Everett A. White was authorized to appoint a committee of three to co-operate in club affairs with a similar committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

AUTO CASE MAN MUST GO TO WORK, UKASE

On the condition that he go to work, and refrain from operating an automobile for six months, Justice J. B. Cox today imposed a sentence of 30 days in the county jail on Lee Street, arrested Saturday night on charges of having operated an automobile without lights, and then suspended the sentence.

Street was arrested on complaint of Delhi residents who said that he attempted to be "hard" by driving without lights. Lodged in jail over Sunday, he was brought before Justice J. B. Cox today.

The court arraigned him caustically, and told him that unless he went to work, and stopped his asserted reckless driving, he would revoke the suspension and place him in jail for 30 days.

OIL COMPANY FIGHTS COUNTY DAMAGE CLAIM

In answer to the suits of the county of Orange against several oil companies, which it was asserted, allowed mud and water and oil to flow on public highways near Huntington Beach, the Texcal Oil company today filed answer, denying the charges.

According to the answer, the oil company has no holdings near Garfield street, and caused no damage to the county. The Texcal company was one of seven companies made defendant in suits.

$6500 NOTE CENTER IN COURT SUIT HERE

W. A. Morrison was defendant in a suit entered in superior court here today by the First National bank of this city and Carrie N. Morrison to collect on an alleged promissory note for $6,500.

According to the complaint, Morrison executed a note for that amount to C. N. Hargraves. Hargraves in turn borrowed from the bank with the note as security. An additional $650 was asked as attorney's fees.

DROPS HER SATCHEL AUTOISTS GRAB IT

When Mrs. Louisa Aguilar, Stanton, dropped a small satchel, containing $52, as she was alighting from a trolley car at Fourth and Artesia streets last night, a man and woman picked it up, entered an automobile and drove west, according to a report which she made to police.

Mrs. Aguilar was able to give but a meager description of the persons or their automobile.

ALLEGED DISTURBER DUE TO FACE COURT

Arrested at his home in Yorba Linda yesterday afternoon, George Herrington, 26, was scheduled to appear before Justice J. B. Cox today on charges of disturbing the peace.

Herrington and his wife had been having trouble, neighbors declared. Early yesterday afternoon, he left home for Anaheim, saying it was asserted, that he was going to get some liquor and return to "clean up the joint." When he returned he found Officers G. E. McClellan and Jesse Elliott awaiting him.

Don't miss it.—Adv.

LOCAL POSTAL FORCE HIT BY 3 FLU CASES

If mail delivery was slow at some Santa Ana residences and in the boxes at the post office today it wasn't altogether the fault of the postal force.

With three carriers, Martin Warren, B. L. Baird and Charles Severance, and one clerk, W. J. Morrison, confined at their homes with the influenza, L. F. Harvey, superintendent of mails, said that substitutes had been employed and the mail distributed as fast as possible, under the conditions.

C. C. Langley, one of the local quota of postal clerks, has been on leave of absence, recovering from an operation, since the fall of 1922, making two clerks and three carriers off duty.

MOOT POINT AS TO PLAY NAME CLEARS

It's "Good Gracious Annabelle."

Coy desk men, who are supposed to have a little knowledge of everything under the sun, and who maintained the idea that "Goodness Gracious Annabelle" was one syllable too many, finally appealed today to Ernest Crozier Phillips, director of the Community Players' organization, and were sustained in their belief. From now on, readers are asked to note all manner of facts regarding the forthcoming production of "Good Gracious Annabelle" of whose fourteen characters at least ten will be newcomers to the local amateur stage, according to the director.

Meeting tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the art room of junior high school, the cast will hold its first rehearsal of the lines, following the selection of three men for yet unassigned parts. Preceding the rehearsal by half an hour will be a called meeting of the scenery committee under the direction of the chairman, Mrs. Marshall Hernois. The committee hopes to have Phillips confer with them and aid in plans for stage settings for the play.

"We are most enthusiastic about the play," declared Phillips. "It has been the easiest casting of any we have yet given and there were more applicants for roles than for any previous Community Players' production."

FULLERTON YOUTH ON TRIAL IN CHECK CASE

Charged with issuing a bad check, Glen Hyde, Fullerton youth, was sceduled to face a jury in Superior Judge R. Y. Williams' court today.

Hyde was arrested on a complaint secured by an automobile dealer who claimed that the defendant gave him a worthless check in payment for an automobile.

Marks and Launer, Fullerton attorneys, were representing Hyde.

Edgewood Park Lots?

1 BECAUSE
—Lots are only a few steps from beautiful paved Main Street—lighted boulevard and car line, the main artery of travel to and from Santa Ana.

2 BECAUSE
—Surroundings are exclusive and ideal for the better grade of homes; there are no bad or poor districts in the vicinity; no cheap buildings.

3 BECAUSE
—Each lot is covered with big, fine, income-producing walnut trees; many have bought lots in Edgewood Park for this feature alone.

4 BECAUSE
—There are only a few lots available in the entire subdivision and every individual lot is a gem from every point of view. Act quickly!

5 BECAUSE
—Lots are 51x150 feet in size—elevation is 23 feet higher than the City Hall grounds—points that influence wise man's judgment.

6 BECAUSE
—Side Walks, Curbs, Sewers, Gas, Water, Electric Lights, Graveled and Oiled Streets are all PAID FOR—none of these improvements to worry about.

DEDICATION OF MEMORIAL AT PARK SLATED

Under direction of T. E. Stephenson, boy scouts of Orange county will dedicate Memorial Drive at Orange County park with an inspiring ceremony Saturday, March 24, Roland E. Dye, scout executive, announced today.

Stephenson is chairman of the Memorial Drive committee, a joint committee of the Orange county board of supervisors and the Orange county council of boy scouts.

Robert Northcross, county forester, has had direct supervision of the planting of all shrubs, trees and plants that have been planted in the drive at the entrance of the county park.

A plat ten feet wide and a half mile long on each side of the highway was recently given for this purpose by James Irvine.

The American Legion posts of Orange county have gone on record endorsing and commending the boy scouts for the step taken in establishing a permanent memorial to the men who gave their lives during the war.

To Instruct Leaders

Following the ceremony, the rest of the morning and the afternoon will be spent in instruction for patrol leaders, assistant patrol leaders, and scribes in how to handle their jobs with greater efficiency, Dye announced.

Commenting on the ceremony and other events scheduled for county scout troops in the near future, Dye said:

"The Court of Honor is endeavoring, through this method, to advance every scout who is registered during the coming year at least one rank and greater stress will be laid on the training program of scout officers during this year with that purpose in mind.

"Saturday, March 28, is the day designated as the quarterly scoutmaster's day to be held at Orange county park.

Scoutmasters to Meet

"The monthly meeting of scoutmasters will be held March 19 at Fullerton.

"Two Courts of Honor will be held this week, one at Orange, under the direction of Leon O. Whitsell, chairman, and the other at Brea under the direction of E. J. Marks, chairman, March 16. The Orange session will be held in the basement of the First Presbyterian church, the home of Orange Troop No. 3. The meeting for District No. 5 will be held in the new Scout hall, Brea.

"R. R. Miller, chairman of the Court of Honor for Districts Nos. 1 and 2, which includes Santa Ana, Tustin, Garden Grove and all territory to the south, announces that the other members of his court are B. A. Crawford, Tustin; Frank Swain, Huntington Beach; A. F. Peek, Santa Ana; H. G. Nelson, Santa Ana, and the Rev. W. E. Roberts.

"The first meeting of this court will be held in Santa Ana March 23.

Many Eager to Enroll

"More than fifty boys indicated their desire to become scouts if scoutmasters were available as a result of two demoustrations of scouting given last Friday at Anaheim.

"It was pointed out at scout headquarters that several hundred boys in Orange county are awaiting the opportunity to become scouts if leadership is available.

"Two new troops are in view for Anaheim as a result of the demonstrations there: one in connection with the Episcopal church and one in connection with the Lions club.

"This week's bulletin carried the announcement to all first-class scouts of Orange county that M. B. Wellington, chairman of the district committee for District No. 2, will open a monthly marksmanship class to be conducted on a range located near the Orange county park. Scouts from all over the county will be present next Saturday at 2 p. m. to learn how to handle a rifle for marksmanship. This does not include military instruction, commonly known as the manual of arms, but only the rules, as prescribed by the National Rifle association to promote safety in the handling of fire arms."

MONDAY EVENING IS POPULAR DANCE TIME

HUNTINGTON BEACH, March 12—Monday evening is proving a popular time at the Beach Pavilion for private or "organization" dances. This evening, March 12, the Elks have secured the hall and invitations have been sent out to all Elk friends. Last Monday the Boy Scouts sponsored a party and the week preceding the Chamber of Commerce conducted a large community frolic.

SHOTS FLY AS DANCERS MASH MAN'S TOES

When some persons attending the dance at Yorba Linda last night stepped on George Orvasco's toes, it made him so mad that it cost him $25 to settle the matter when he pleaded guilty to charges of disturbing the peace, before Justice J. B. Cox today.

Incidentally, Orvasco precipitated a small riot, in which shooting at stars played a large part, according to five sheriff's men who responded to an emergency call.

When the officers reached the scene, those who were said to have been in the riot had disappeared, but Orvasco was still bemoaning his asserted crushed toes.

He was arrested and lodged in the county jail. The officers were Under Sheriff E. E. French, and Deputies G. E. McClellan, Joseph Scott, Jesse Elliott and City Officer V. Barnhill.

TWO S. A. MEN FORM TRADING COMPANY

Taking as its code of ethics, as announced in the first advertisement appearing in The Register today, "No transaction is justified unless all contracting parties are benefited," a new firm was launched in Santa Ana today under the title of "The California Trading company."

According to the advertisement, the members of the firm are A. V. Napier and L. Crasher. Their office, for the present, will be in the Sycamore building, on Third street.

Napier, for the past four years, has been advertising manager for The Register. He is a prominent and active member of the Rotary club of Santa Ana and other local organizations. For about twenty years he has been successfully working out the advertising problems of other people and there are said to be a great many business men who will be interested in seeing how he handles his own advertising.

Crasher has been engaged in the real estate business in Santa Ana for a number of years. He is a member of the Santa Ana Realty board and is regarded as a student of values, with a thorough understanding of all classes of Southern California properties.

It will be the mission of the new firm," it was announced, to act as a clearing house for "anything that has intrinsic value."

"In connection with our other business we will do a general real estate business, but on a somewhat different plan from that usually employed," Crasher said.

A part of the plan will be the organization of local capital for investments and for development work, and the loaning of money, it was said.

SCHOOLS CLOSE FOR VACATION MARCH 30

Pupils of the Santa Ana public schools today were looking forward with interest to March 30 when all of the educational institutions under the city's jurisdiction will close for the annual week of spring vacation.

With that in view many high school students were planning the customary house parties at Balboa and Newport Beach or long jaunts into nearby mountain retreats. Numerous members of the local faculties also were expecting to take advantage of the "lay-off" and take life easy here or at the mountains or beaches.

The schools will again open Monday, April 9, and from then until June 8, when summer vacation begins, will be continuously in operation.

Why Worry and Grow Wrinkles?

Worry brings wrinkles.

Worry brings age.

Should the housewife pause to total up the week's worries they will all agree that the greatest worry of the lot is "Laundry Day."

Here you will find a wonderful Family Wash Service which will drive out all worry about the housewife's greatest bugbear—the weekly wash day. And the cost is as low in price as the service is high in quality.

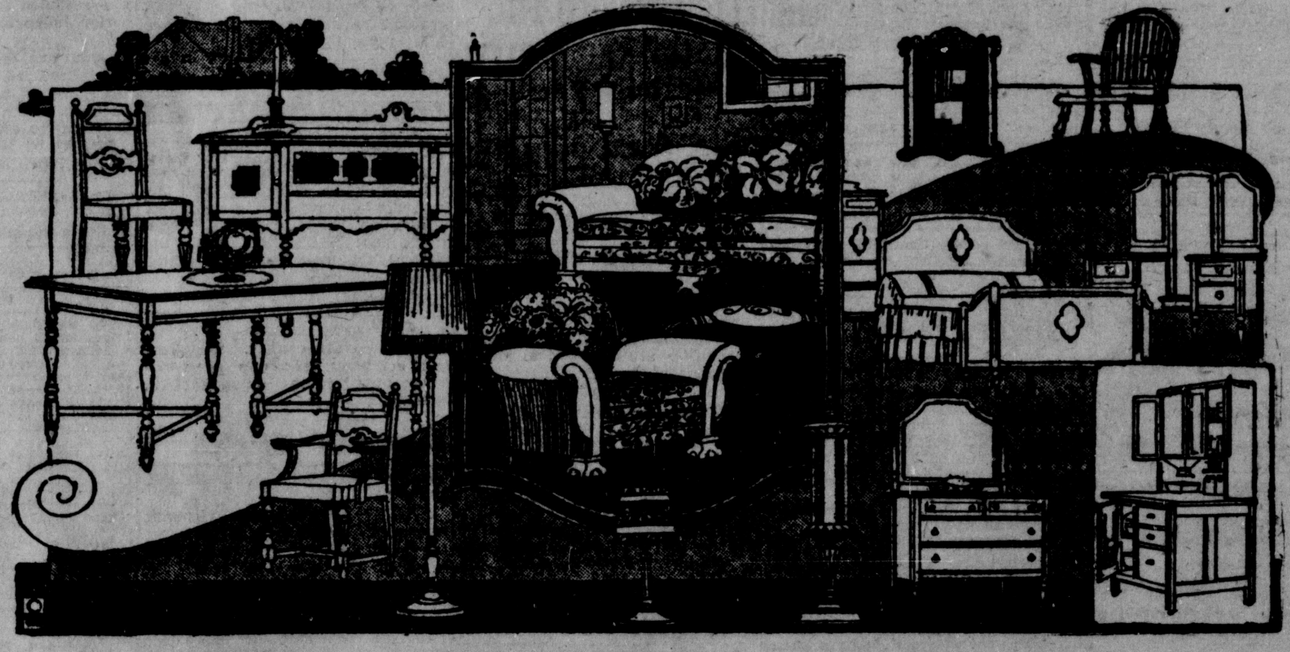

Why not conserve your health and good looks by sending your wash to us, starting this week?

NEW PLAN FOR JOBLESS

LONDON, March 12.—The unemployment problem can be solved—let the government put the jobless at work exterminating sparrows. That's the proposal of the Incorported Vermin Repression society.

NAVY'S NEWEST DIRIGIBLE IS UNIQUE

PHILADELPHIA, March 12. — The ZR-1, Uncle Sam's new airship is nearing completion at the League Island Naval Aircraft Factory and will take the air about September 1.

The ship may revolutionize the craft. The girder work is made of a new alloy, known as "duralumium." This metal is slightly heavier than aluminum and possesses the tensile strength of steel.

"Duralumium" is expected to eliminate the danger of buckling of the hull, a contributing cause of many air disasters, and the use of helium, a non-inflammable gas, will safeguard against explosions.

The ZR-1 will measure 680 feet in length, with a diameter of 78 feet and a total capacity of 2,150,000 cubic feet. It will be equipped with motors of original design, as well as controls for the operating system evolved by naval aeronautical engineers.

The flying weight of the huge ship will be 135,000 pounds, which in addition to the craft embraces the fuel cargo, a crew of 28, provisions and water.

A maximum speed of 75 miles an hour, with a cruising speed of 50 miles an hour, is predicted by the construction engineers. The cruising radius of the ZR-1 on its fuel capacity of 48 tanks, each holding 113 gallons, will be sufficient for a 3500 mile trip. The ship, with six powerful motors totaling 2040 horsepower, will be able to stay in the air at least 75 hours.

Each of the six 340 horsepower motors will be contained in an inclosed car, and connected to the ship by runways to allow the mechanicians to move back and forth between the control room, living quarters and engine room.

Living quarters will be built along the keel inside the main bag, while a ladder or climbing shaft will run through the center of the bag to the top of the envelope, on which will be the observation platform.

The bag or "hull" has been divided into 20 separate gas bags or "cells" covered with layers of fabric. At the present time helium costs $130 for 1000 cubic feet, which would make the total cost of charging the ZR-1 $279,500.

IRVINE RALLY FALLS ONE RUN SHORT; ANGEL COASTERS WIN BY 5 TO 4 SCORE

BY EDDIE WEST

The tieing run on third base, none out and 2000 fans clamoring for any kind of a safe blow—

Picture that and you have the concluding view of one of the most sensational baseball games played in Orange county when "Red" Killefer's Los Angeles Coast league squad No. 2 nosed out the Irvine club, champions of the Orange County Harbor league, by the score of 5 to 4 at Irvine yesterday afternoon.

That tieing run on third never got across. The red-splattered dome of Wade Killefer which nearly turned to a silver gray in the space of a few moments returned to its normal lustre. The prayers of the Irvine bugs went unanswered. But the Los Angeles men, rookies and tried veterans, was glad, mighty glad, when it was all over and they were on their way to the showers in the little Irvine hotel.

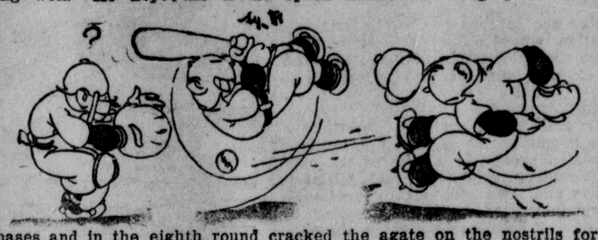

Before that Frank Merriwell finish it had been a Los Angeles day. Big "Dutch" Hinrichs, the property of the Angels, but loaned to Irvine to hurl for his old teammates against his new ones, had pitched plenty of good baseball. A couple of tough breaks had put him behind 5 to 2 when the last of the ninth began.

Carl Schultz, first up, hammered a clean single to center. Hinrichs shot another blow to the same spot. Callahan, the former Fullerton high school athletic star, let one filter past and then drove a double between left and center field scoring Schultz and Hinrichs. Callahan stole third while Hanna held the ball.

RANEY FOULS OUT

Neal Raney, the U. S. C. speed boy and a great hitter was up. He was overanxious and "Toughy" Tyrrell garbled his high foul back of the screen. B. Arambel smashed a liner that Beck easily captured. Beck Lanfranco slammed a bounder to Fannin and was thrown out at first. That was all. It was a great finish to a great game.

Hillard Tyrrell, Santa Ana boy, caught the entire melee for the Angels and looked like a million dollars. He had his pitchers working well. He kept the Irvine speed merchants hanging to their bases and in the eighth round cracked the agate on the nostrils for a darb of a two-bagger down the third base line.

Contrary to expectations, Manager Killefer of the Angels was on hand to watch his men work. Billy McCabe, Tony Rego, Clyde Beck and Marty Krug were the other regulars present. All of these but Rego played the full route. Rego, a catcher, put in the afternoon coaching at third base and watching Tyrrell show his wares.

Schultz, Irvine left fielder, made a long run for Marty Krug's fly back of short in the first inning with two out and Beck perched on third base. He got under it but dropped it and Beck, away with the crack of the bat easily tallied. Schultz made up for this fumble an instant later by spearing Fannin's torrid smash with one hand. The clout had the earmarks of at least a double and would have meant another score for the visitors.

SCORE TWO IN FIFTH

The Angels scored two more in the third frame. Voltmer walked and pilfered second. Cutting, a recruit from Sacramento who played a sensational game at first base for Killefer's clan, pummeled a double over Callahan and Voltmer scored. Cutting was caught off second, Hinrichs to B. Arambel and Krug was out, Lanfranco to Raney. Fannin, however, doubled to left and scored when Walters singled to right. Tyrrell smashed a long fly that Schultz nailed.

Irvine came back with two more in its half of the same canto. Callahan singled to center. Raney fanned. B. Arambel doubled to left sending Callahan to third. Lanfranco singled sharply to center scoring both Callahan and B. Arambel. R. Mitchell and J. Arambel were retired without more damage.

The Seraphs counted again in the fifth when Krug reached second on B. Arambel's wild throw to toss him out at first, when to third after J. Arambel had caught Fannin's long fly and scored on a passed ball after Walters had whiffed.

The last Los Angeles score came in the eighth when with one down, Tyrrell doubled to left and scored from second on Hanna's safe drive to center.

LOCAL BOY REPORTS TO SERAPH CLUB AT L. A.; VISITS HERE

Hillard ("Toughy") Tyrrell, Santa Ana boy, today was preparing to join his teammates on the Los Angeles club of the Pacific Coast league at Los Angeles tomorrow when the entire Seraph squad will report at Washington Park to Manager "Red" Killefer for the final training campaign before the opening of the league season April 3.

The Angel troupe left their camp at Elsinore last Saturday and will complete their work at home. They will meet the Chicago Cubs, training at Catalina, next Saturday and Sunday at Washington Park.

Tyrrell was here over the week-end for a visit with his mother, Mrs. Molly Tyrrell. Ed Cutting, the sensational Sacramento boy who is making a great bid for a berth at first base with Los Angeles, accompanied him here.

POLY ATHLETES TO MEET BEACH TEAMS

The Santa Ana high school track and baseball teams today were under way on their busiest week of the spring season.

With the prospect that both Bob Vawter, crack distance runner, and Bernard Thoele, promising half-miler, will be declared eligible soon, Coach Ray Adkinson of the Poly track cohorts was angling for a clash with Ray Walker's state champion Huntington Beach high school team here next Friday afternoon.

The two teams were scheduled to stage a dual affair early in the season but rain caused it to be cancelled.

The local baseball team will take on Long Beach high school here tomorrow afternoon and then put in its final licks before meeting Garden Grove here Friday afternoon in the first game of the 1923 Orange league season.

"Barney" Le Bard probably will oppose the Beachcombers on the hill. Either Lorraine Bowe or Oscar Spencer, a left-hander, will chuck against the Grovers.

HUNT. PARK QUINTET DEFEATS S. A. TEAM

Handicapped by injuries to several of its players during the melee, the basketball team of the First Congregational church of Santa Ana suffered a 22 to 18 defeat at the hands of the Huntington Park First Methodist team on the local Y. M. C. A. courts last Saturday night.

The local five led at half itme by the score of 17 to 12 but the visitors made the most of the Congregationalist misfortunes in the last two periods of play and managed to nose out in front in the last few minutes.

The lineup:

| Santa Ana (18) | Pos. | Huntington (22) Park |
|---|---|---|
| Bigelow | F. | Herman |
| Cole | F. | Tumbleson |
| Nickey | C. | Rece |
| Kellogg | G. | Roberts |

SUMMER COURSE IN SPANISH SCHEDULED

Habla usted Espanol?
Can you speak Spanish?
No? Want to learn?

Spanish will be one of the courses offered at the University of California summer session in Los Angeles from June 30 to August 11, it was learned here today.

Whether for your use in travel, or for some commercial purpose, you may learn your Spanish at the university summer session.

Those desiring to acquire a classical knowledge of the language are to have that opportunity. Dr. Frank Otis Reed of the University of Wisconsin, who has studied at the Universidad Central in Madrid and also in Paris, will be on the faculty. Dr. Rudolph Schevill, who has also studied abroad, will conduct special courses in the Spanish novel.

Owing to increasing relations with Central and South America, many students are seeking training in the use of the Spanish language, it was said.

Further information will be available through the University of California summer session headquarters, Junior Orpheum building, Los Angeles.

RUSHING PLANS FOR NEW L. A. THEATER

LOS ANGELES, March 12—Construction of the city's next big theater, the Biltmore, to be located at the southeast corner of Fifth and Grand street, will begin on April 1, representing a financial outlay of approximately $700,000.

Negotiations for the theater, which is to be one of the finest ever erected in the west were closed recently upon the visit of A. L. Erlanger, noted theatrical man, to Los Angeles.

HEYDLER ATTITUDE IS CLAIMED UNFAIR

Farrell Says Benton Case May Bring Trouble To Baseball Prexy

BY HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, March 12.—Disagreement between the baseball commissioner and the president of the National league on the Benton case may bring out a situation that will be a real one in baseball.

Landis ruled that Benton was good enough to play for the Cincinnati Reds if he was good enough to pitch in the American association—on moral grounds.

Heydler told the Reds not to put Benton on the payroll and said the former Giant southpaw could not come back to his league.

The attitude of the National league president in this instance is as inconsistent as it was in 1917 when the Herzog-Benton case first was brought to his attention. Both players made charges against each other and he permitted them to remain in baseball for their natural period of usefulness and now six years later he raises objections to the return of Benton for reasons that existed for three years while Benton was pitching for the New York Giants.

Benton claimed in 1917 that Herzog made him an offer to throw a game and that he laughed it off and told Art Fletcher, Captain of the Giants about it. Benton pitched the game in question and won it. Heydler brought the pair before him and they both question the veracity of each other.

Herzog claims that Benton was "out to get him" because of some trouble they had when Herzog was managing the Cincinnati Reds and Benton was pitching for him. Herzog said he fined Benton for breaking the training rules, and that Benton said at the time that he would get even with him. Benton later was traded to the Giants, and Herzog afterward went back to the same team.

Training Camp Tabs

SAN ANTONIO, Texas.—Jimmy O'Connell, the $75,000 beauty, led the fireworks with four hits, while the Giants were beating the San Antonio Bears, 21 to 14, in the first game of the season. Harry Grabiner, secretary of the Chicago White Sox, here on business, said that Eddie Collins, Falk and Robertson are holdouts.

CLEARWATER, Fla.—Commissioner Landis was visiting the Brooklyn Robins today as his first stop on a trip that will take in all the Florida training camps. He would not comment on the action of the National league president in refusing "Rube" Benton permission to pitch for the Cincinnati Reds.

NEW ORLEANS—Babe Ruth got one hit and made nine put outs without an error at first base when the Yankees were losing 13 to 0 to New Orleans in the first game of the season. There were only three regulars in the Yankees' lineup.

CATALINA ISLAND, Calif. —A light workout this afternoon was the only practice scheduled for the Chicago Cubs today following their victory over the Vernon team yesterday. The team stayed over in Los Angeles last night and returned to their training grounds early today.

AUGUSTA, Ga.—Beginning today Manager Cobb of the Detroit Tigers will work two sets of infields in practice, likewise two posts in the outfield. Mike Pratt, Tigney and Jean will play one defense. Brady, Kerry and Haney will form the other.

LEESBURG, Fla. — Heinie Sand, the Phillies' new shortstop from Salt Lake, who is expected to step into the boots of Art Fletcher at shortstop, reported for practice today.

ORLANDO, Fla.—The Reds today started their second week of practice with 29 men on hand. Rube Benton remains with the Reds and will await the outcome of President Heydler's defi of the ultimatium of Judge Landis, who reinstated the Rube in baseball's good graces.

Sport Flashes

MENTONE — Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen, world's woman champion tennis champion, won the Mentone singles championship by beating the British star, Miss Kathleen McKane, 6-2 and 7-5. Mrs. Mallory, American champion, lost again in the woman's doubles.

NEW YORK—With seven victories out of eight games, Yale has practically cinched the championship of the intercollegiate basketball league. Cornell is second and Princeton third.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 12.—Thirty basketball teams were today to start in the nation's A. A. U. basketball tournament which will be held throughout the week. The tournament will be launched this afternoon when the Hooker A. C. of Hooker, Okla., and the Eastside Presbyterians of Kansas City take the floor.

SUPREME COURT RECESS

WASHINGTON, March 12—The supreme court today announced a recess from Monday, March 19 to Monday, April 19.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

In the million dollar shipment of young ball players to get a trial in the major leagues this season is only one first baseman and he is hyphenated.

Jack Bentley, the $65,000 beauty the Giants secured from the Baltimore Orioles, is a first baseman, but he is more of a pitcher and McGraw hardly will take George Kelly off first base to use Bentley.

Since Lu Blue came up with the Detroit Tigers and developed into one of the best first basemen in the game, the crop of good initial sackmen has been so poor that Doc Johnston held on for several years in fast company and the Doc was long overdue.

Connie Mack picked up Hauser, a youngster who fielded .986 and batted over .300 last season, but Mack apparently isn't satisfied with him, as he said recently he would use Stuffy McInnis if he could get him.

The case of McInnis, by the way, is hard to figure. Three or four clubs could use him well, as regardless of slowed-up limbs he still has a couple of years of good baseball in him, but all the majors passed him when Cleveland asked for waivers.

In place of Stuffy, the Indians will try Brower, a young outfielder from the International League and Guisto, a big fellow who has been warming the bench.

* * *

Jim Bottomley, the Card first baseman, is the first good one to come up for several years in the National League and he isn't a sensation. The Reds are going along with Jake Daubert, one of the oldest players in the league who insists, however, upon acting like one of the youngest. Brooklyn is so badly in need of a good guardian at the initial corner that Squire Ebbets grabbed onto Jack Fournier when the Cards decided to get rid of him.

ANNOUNCE PLAN FOR BIG HANDICAP RACE

TIA JUANA, Mex., March 12.—President James W. Coffroth of the Tia Juana Jockey club, today announced that the finish of the Coffroth Handicap of Sunday, March 25, will be directly in front of the big grandstand.

The Coffroth Handicap at 1 1-4 miles will see $37,375 distributed among the owners of the first four horses, $29,875 going to the winner. This big sum will make the Coffroth the richest stake in America for horses of all ages.

The starting post for a race of 1 1-4 miles at Tia Juana track is on a turn just before the homestretch is entered. It had been proposed that the starting post and the finish be moved so that the start could be on a straightaway. This would put the finish past the grandstand.

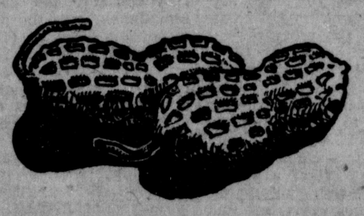

When President Coffroth heard of this he promptly ordered that the plan be abandoned and that the finish for the Coffroth Handicap be directly in front of the grandstand as it is for all of the Tia Juana races. While the starter's gate will be on a slight turn the track is so wide at the quarter pole that there will be ample room for the 15 thoroughbreds. It is believed that this will be the number of starters.

APPENDICITIS KILLS PUP.

WOODLAND, Calif., March 12.—"Speed," Boston bull pup, said to be worth $5,000, died here from appendicitis, an autopsy revealed today. Veterinarians said it was the first case of canine appendicitis on record in the state.

Yes—We Are a Couple of Nuts

A lot of people, when they read our code of ethics at the top of this ad, will say that we are a couple of nuts.

All right—we ARE a couple of nuts.

But we are in pretty good company—the record of the nuts up to date runs high.

Columbus was a nut. He went about from capital to capital, trying to find a king sporty enough to back his plan for enlarging the geography, and they all joshed him.

Galileo was a nut. When he said the world went around the sun, they tied him to a rack and tortured him until they made him take it back.

Newton was a nut. But if it hadn't been for Ike, the nut, we might still believe it is a worm that makes the apple fall down instead of up.

Watt turned out to be a nut—and we have the steam engine.

Singer was a nut—and we have a sewing machine.

Fulton was a nut—and we have steamboats.

When England heard Stephenson's idea of a wagon on rails pushed by steam they laughed their heads off. But Stephenson persisted in his nuttiness and now there are 253,528¾ miles of railways in this country.

Everybody takes a Kodak with them because Eastman was a nut.

Ford was a nut—and still is, for that matter.

But don't get the idea that we are putting ourselves in a line with these names. They are all big nuts—cocoanuts—while we are only peanuts. But we are just as much in earnest about our own particular nuttiness as any of them ever were. We DO believe that American trade can be clean. We DO believe there is an opportunity for helpful, conscientious service in our line of endeavor.

It is our business to buy, sell, or trade anythnig that has intrinsic value.

We DO believe that "no transaction is justified unless all contracting parties are benefited."

We believe that we can help you out with your proposition. We will put our time against yours. Drop in and let's find out.

SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENT'S BILL

If a bill written by the city school superintendent of Santa Monica and introduced into the legislature by State Senator Lewis should be come law, the authority of the board of education would be greatly reduced and the authority of the school superintendent increased far beyond that given him under present laws.

In many important matters the school board would become the merest figurehead.

For instance, here is one provision: "No one shall be employed as an officer, teacher or other employe of the school district unless such person has been recommended for employment by the superintendent of schools."

Another provision that is looked upon as particularly undesirable in the management of city schools is this:

"After his second election (the first being for a four-year term) as city superintendent of schools or as district superintendent of schools in the same school district, the provisions of the Tenure act governing the employment of teachers shall apply to him." That is, he would be employed virtually for life, with dismissal possible only upon certain proven charges.

The Tenure act itself is open to many objections when applied to teachers only, and those objections are more striking and untenable when applied to a school superintendent.

Under the Lewis bill, the budget would be prepared by the school superintendent. At the present time, in Santa Ana, the budget is entirely in the hands of the school board, elected by the people and responsible to the people.

MRS. WILLEBRANDT'S EXAMPLE

Certain women's organizations in the East say that the prohibition law could be better enforced if women were allowed a bigger share in its enforcement. The work of a woman in the Department of Justice at Washington is cited in corroboration of that view.

The opinion of the department on which is based the present enforcement policy on the high seas, as applied to American ships everywhere and foreign ships in American ports, was written by Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, formerly a teacher in the Buena Park schools of this county. There was much lifting of eyebrows when this California woman was appointed assistant attorney general. But when it came necessary to prepare that important opinion, Mr. Daugherty turnued the job over to her, as the most competent person available. So useful has Mrs. Willebrandt become that, since the illness of her chief, she has sometimes been called the acting attorney general. The other lawyers willingly defer to her judgment.

Her service, to be sure, consists in legal knowledge and judgment rather than execution of the law. But if women can succeed in the purely theoretical field of prohibition law, cannot they succeed also in the practical field of enforcement.

The first famous woman prohibitionist, Carrie Nation, was a very effective enforcer. Some of the Carrie Nation spirit, exerted now not in defiance of law but in support of law, may be what the country needs.

QUESTIONING OIL PRACTICES

Charges made against the Standard Oil company before a senatorial committee sounded like extracts from the ancient history of that organization. If the Standard has been cutting prices temporarily, in various localities, to drive out the independent oil men, and compensating itself for the loss by higher charges elsewhere, it is doing what it was accused of doing in the years of its early development.

"Cutthroat competition" was supposed to have been eliminated in this industry, as in others, especially since the forced division of the Oil Trust into its component parts. The public, to be sure, has never taken that partition very seriously. But the public has supposed that the immoral and monopolistic practices of yore were nearly extinct, except for maintaining prices habitually at a slightly higher level than was needed to insure a fair profit.

It has long been regarded as curious, however, that the various Standard Oil Companies were in such close agreement in basic prices. Still more curious has it been that the "independents," as if by some instinct, nearly always raised and lowered prices to match those of the Standard corporations in the same territory. The present revelations seem to suggest that the independents may have been forced to do this, in order to avoid ruinous undercutting. If that is the case, vigorous action by the Department of Justice should have a wholesome effect.

In any event, it is clear that there ought to be more honest competition in the oil industry than there is. It is no longer merely a question of kerosene. The steadily growing importance of gasoline and fuel oil to American industry and transportation, by land and sea, demands that this field be freed from either oppressive monopoly or extortionate "gentlemen's agreements."

A NON-FLIRTING CODE

This is anti-flirt week in Washington, D. C., and Chicago. Women's organizations and women leaders in social work are discussing facts regarding flirting and bringing them to the attention of the girls of the two cities.

Flirting is not a new evil. It has been a dangerous pastime for many generations. Like other current menaces, however, its dangerous features are somewhat increased by modern conditions, particularly the automobile. The suggestion of one man, that the best way to discourage flirting is not to notice it or think about it, probably presents as simple a remedy as any.

A single anti-flirt week may not put a stop to the practice, but it is just as well to call attention to it occasionally and to utter a few injunctions to those wise enough to heed them.

LOST POWER IS NOTED

Thoughtful people who were interested in the visit to these shores of Emile Coue will appreciate a story by Ernest Poole in the current Harper's. While "The Avalanche" is carefully drawn to be unlike the story of Coue in literal details, its analogy to the Coue case is apparent.

The sympathetic little tale of the man who after long stoudy found he could help a few people in his quiet home, the value of whose work and whose very life were ruined by unwise and premature publicity, shows a keen sense of the force of the great advertising engine.

There is an eastern saying that it is the function of a knife to cut. It may cut to save, it may cut to heal or it may cut to kill.

It is the function of publicity to make things known. This power also may be used for good or ill. In the case of the man or woman who can do a little work, with a few people to whom he has time to teach principles, to explain dangers, but who cannot help at all great numbers of people who come in haste, publicity may do more harm than good. The same is true in the cose of the artist who writes or paints a few things slowly and with great power and beauty. Through the publicity which drives the poet or painter to haste and standardization, the real beauty possible before is lost in a mass of half-finished undertakings.

Tampering With Initiative

Sacramento Bee.

No legislative session passes in California without an attempt to weaken or destroy the initiative or the referendum, or both these powers long enjoyed by The People of the State.

Two proposals of this nature are before the Assembly in the form of amendments to the constitution. Both were introduced by Dr. Ernest Dozier of Redding, a pronounced reactionary.

The first of these Dozier measures (A. C. A. 11), would permit the legislature to amend or repeal any initiative measure four years after its adoption by the voters at the polls.

A. C. A. 12 calls for pesubmission to The People of every such measure four years after its popular enactment.

Obviously, these are both hostile to the principle of direct legislation, whose object is to enable The People to change the constitution or make laws for themselves, in case of failure of the legislature to meet the public demand.

As the constitution stands,

"no act, law or amendment to the constitution, adopted by The People at the polls * * * shall be amended or repealed except by a vote of the electors, unless otherwise provided in said initiative measure; but acts and laws adopted by The People under the referendum * * * may be amended by the legislature of any subsequent session thereof."

This is as it should be.

The referendum provision is simply a safeguard against vicious, defective or unpopular law-making by the legislature, a useful and needed check upon that body. It enables the legislature to try again, or as often as it may see fit, to make a satisfactory law upon any subject not conclusively dealt with by the initiative, which latter properly is given the force of a constitutional amendment.

There is no occasion for either of the Dozier measures.

For what one or the other would accomplish may now be had through initiative petition, in the form of a constitutional amendment; or the legislature may submit to The People such an amendment, which it is not precluded from doing by anything now in the constitution.

Last November a proposal to increase the percentage of signatures on initiative petitions respecting taxation was rejected by a majority of over 120,000, as was a like measure in 1920.

These results showed the disposition of The People to be strongly against any tinkering with the initiative.

And the Dozier measures, being far worse, would have no possibility of approval at the polls.

So as they are not only reactionary and wrong in principle, but also certain to be badly beaten if subjected to a popular vote, the legislature should reject them absolutely, and not needlessly encumber the ballot, by submitting them to the electorate.

"Selling Our State"

San Bernardino Sun.

Missouri has inaugurated a movement to "sell" Missouri to the country. The desire is to attract attention to the state's industrial possibilities, its fertile soil, its scenery, its climate and other features.

St. Louis has taken the lead in this movement, with the authorization of an expenditure of nearly $90,000,000 for improvements designed to make the city one of the nation's show places.

The business of "selling" a community to the rest of the country is really one of setting and maintaining a standard of excellence. A community in which the people live up to their obligations will obtain without a conscious effort the widest market for its products, whether those products be industrial or devoid of possibilities of financial return.

There is a Virginia orchard whose entire crop of apples is taken each year by the inhabitants of a certain district in Europe. What is accomplished by the grower in apples is a symbol of what can be accomplished by communities in all sorts of activities. The apple-grower in Virginia shipped a high grade and maintained its standard year after year. The buyer knew he could rely on the product. Any community which establishes a high standard in the things it wants the world to take from it, and then maintains that standard, may feel confident that it has "sold" itself to the country.

Our Future Competitor

Riverside Press.

With the increased production of fruits throughout the Pacific coast, it is well to take into consideration occasionally the fact that new areas are being developed over the entire world for fruit production. Just recently, a notice has been received from New Zealand that a large acreage of apples and other fruits had been planted on the island.

Australia is developing rapidly with both deciduous and citrus fruits. Canada during 1922 shipped over $3,000,000 worth of peaches. A large amount of this crop was shipped to the British Isles. The latest advices from Cape Town, South Africa, stated that the fruit growers there are going heavily into the planting of deciduous fruits, and only recently the republic of Argentina shipped several steamer loads of grapes and other sub-tropical fruits into the port of New York. According to trade reports, they were three weeks in transit, but arrived in excellent condition. While there is still abundant market for American fruits not only in this country, but in Europe, but it is important, if we are to contine with a normal growth and without unnecessary setbacks, that we are posted in our knowledge of world conditions, that we take prompt measures to increase our transportation facilities, secure equitable freight rates and maintain the standard of our product.

Editorial Shorts

The Facts told an interesting story the other day about the movement in California to can the hearts of grapefruit. This should grow into a great industry. It is already that down in Florida and this paper hazards the opinion that the best California grapefruit will be better canned than the best Florida, because of the larger amount of acid available in the western product. If one can get a fine grapefruit out of a jar in the morning, he will not need to depend upon the season for this wonderful appetizer.—Redlands Facts.

The Great and Only Uncle Sam

Why Not 100 Per Cent?

San Bernardino Sun

It is announced that the suggested increase in the basis of the county assessment is abandoned, because of the dangers of a State ad valorem tax. While we have seen various references to such a tax, we confess we are a bit skeptical, for it seems to us the last thing any administration would agree to, and cuts even more drastic than any yet reported from Sacramento will be made before the Governor or the Legislature inflicts a direct tax on the property of Californians, who are now mulcted for $40,000,000 to $50,000,000 a year indirectly, and are largely innocent of the fact.

But there is something radically wrong with a tax system which makes it possible for the Assessor, by a stroke of the pen, to say that the property which was worth $60,000,000 is now worth $90,000,000. As a matter of fact, neither is the truth and one is just as indefensible as the other. It is not the system in San Bernardino County that we are rallying at. It is the system in California, or any place else which assumes anything less than the actual cash value of all property. All of which is contrary to the California law, made and provided. The law says that property shall be assessed at its fullcash value, but by some hocus-pocus through the years, and doubtless for the laudable purpose of dodging a share of State taxation, assessors began to lower assessments, until it was general all over the State to put on the books only one-third of the cash value. As we remember it, when direct State taxation was abandoned in 1911, the State Board of Equalization was going on the theory of a 40 per cent valuation, but since that time, with no State tax to dodge, Assessors in some of the counties have been increasing the basis of assessment valuation, and all Southern California counties save three now profess to use a 50 per cent basis. The exceptions are Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino counties, which assess on a one-third basis.

Theoretically, if the assessment were raised from 33 per cent of real value to 100 per cent, by the same token the tax rate would be reduced to one-third of the former rate, to raise the same amount of money for county and municipal purposes. Whether it would work out that way is questioned. Opponents of the plan insist that it would not. Still, officials charged with responsibility and conscientiously discharging it would not increase the rate above actual requrements.

On the other hand, appearances do count for something. If we could boast that the City of San Bernardino has an assessed valuation of $27,000,000 and a total tax rate of $2.00, it would sound better and look better, and raise just as much but no more money than if the assessment is maintained at $9,000,000, with a $6.00 tax rate.

If there is real danger of a State tax rate, the State Board of Equalization will hardly overlook us, but will promptly increase the county's assessment to the level of other counties, the only difference being in the placing of responsibility for the increase.

ON THE DUNES

Sand and sea.
Oh to ride on the mounting wind,
Flinging the mists behind,
Free as the gulls are free!

Weighted—held to the land.
Seeing before, behind,
Only (because of the mists that blind)
Sea and sand.

Restless gull,
Answer why
You are not content as I
To drop inert on the rigdy dune?
In azure June,
Just doing nothing is not dull.

SIDESTEPPING MRS. GRUNDY.

"Why do you go on the balcony when I sing? Don't you like to hear me?"

"It isn't that. I want the neighbors to see that I'm not beating my wife."

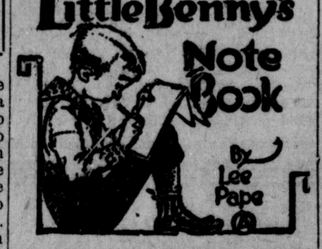

FORTUNATE COUPLE.

"It wouldn't be much trouble for us to marry,' he hinted. "My father is a minister, you know."

"Well," she said, "let's have a try at it anyway—my dad's a lawyer."—New York Sun.

Little Benny's Note Book

by Lee Pape

Last Sattiday there was a cut Up Comedy at the Little Grand called The Firemens Ball in 8 Reels with Squidge Jones and Luella Dippers and All Star Cast, and ma gave me the money to go about the 6th time I asked her, proving if at ferst you dont succeed, try, try agen, and by the time I got there the pickture was started alreddy and the Little Grand was all dark inside and I couldent see the seets or enything and I was wawking down the ile carefill trying to see a empty space to sit down, wich I dident, on account of all I could see being darkniss, and all of a suddin something happened, being me tripping over some mans feet and grabbing a hold of his stummick to keep from falling all over him, and he sed, Hay, wats all this, ware you going?

I tripped over your feet, I sed.

Well thats no reason for assaulting me, the man sed, and I sed, I dident assault you on perpose. Being a man I wouldent reckonize if I ever met him agen on account of never having even saw him, and I kepp on down the ile looking for a empty space, and I thawt I saw one and I stuck my hand in to find out and it came down rite on top of some kids hair, being sharp hair sticking up strate as if it belonged to some tuff kid. Wich it did, him saying, Wats you doing there, are you looking for a fite?

O, I dident know you was here, I sed, and he sed, Aw go on, you did it on perpose and if you wunt a fite Ill fite you I dont care how dark it is.

Wich jest then the usher came up with a flash lite and the kid was one of the fearsest looking kids I ever saw, and the usher took me down to a empty seet saying Shh, shh, and nuthing elts happened exsept some fat lady allmost setting down on me before I had time to give her a quick poke with my fist to leeve her know the seet was taken.

IN THE LONG AGO

From the Register Files

March 12, 1909

The board of education has put it up to the Merchants and Manufacturers association and the Chamber of Commerce to put over a bond issue for schools. The school board has submitted bonds twice unsuccessfully. Rutan, Carden and Remsberg for the Chamber of Commerce and Trago and Liebeg for the M. and M. are to view the school buildings of the city.

The W. C. T. U. of Santa Ana re-elected officers: President, Mrs. W. B. Tedford; vice-presidents, Mrs. M. L. Tillotson, Mrs. J. N. Anderson; secretaries, Mrs. Lea Warren, Mrs. J. H. Rankin; treasurer, Mrs. C. G. Ramsey.

J. A. McFadden and L. L. Vestal are heading a movement to form a local unit of the American Rifle association.

Four boys of the '09B class of the high school have been busy scrubbing out numerals of their class painted on the sidewalks at the high school.

Mrs. J. L. Devore is holding a soring millinery opening at her store.

Some Odds and Ends

DANGER

If some one handed you a stick of dynamite and asked you to carry it home for him, what would you do? Start running?

A company that makes high explosives checks up and finds that 280 million pounds of dynamite and other blow-up materials were made in 1920, sold and shipped all over the country—without any property losses or personal accidents. And only one accident in 1921.

Explosives haven't been made fool-proof. But the people who handle them exercise great caution. Nothing is really dangerous when we are careful. Most accidents are due to some one's carelessness.

CHEAPER

You can send a letter to Australia for a five-cent stamp. In 1857 the mail charge was $2.04.

Postal officials look through the old records and report that, if all the mail rates of 1857 were still in force, America's postage bill would be 100 million dollars a year greater than now.

In the matter of mail, the government has done an excellent job. A queer thing about governments is that they generally do things very well or very badly, rarely halfway between.

ORIENT

China looms larger and larger, as a big market for American goods, enthuses Julean Arnold, for 20 years our government trade representative in the land of the yellow men.

If you are alive in 1940, you will probably find China our best customer, with Europe lagging far behind. When Europeans fully realize the frightful mess they are in, they'll move out in multitudes. The urge to escape from European troubles is what built up America.

ENTERPRISING

Tokyo, Japan, will have its first subways, reflecting the swiftly changing orient. And the "tubes" will be constructed by an American company. It's a 15-million-dollar deal.

The fact that Americans are called on, to handle the job, should be a tonic to any of the rest of us who are discouraged about our national importance. We are a "crude" people—until some one wants a big job done. Some European countries realized that a few years ago when our military machine came to their rescue. Now they seem to have forgotten.

DESTRUCTION

Offhand you can rattle off the names of at least 20 military leaders who won lasting fame by destroying life and property.

But what do you know about Edward Jenner? England, his native country, has been honoring him. Jenner was the physician who discovered how to prevent smallpox by vaccination.

This discovery, according to many scientists, has saved probably a thousand lives to every life destroyed in the last century by wars. Remember his name. Without his discovery, you might be dead now.

RADIO

Photographs, sent by wireless, are being received in Washington, D. C., in the laboratory of the inventor, C. Francis Jenkins. Their transmission, on the NOF wave length of 425 meters, may have been heard by you and improperly called static. Uncanny, to "hear photographs." Quite plainly the Jenkins process has sent pictures of President Harding and others.

Jenkins' goal is radio movies. With good health, you should see them before 1930.

STAGE

William A. Brady, theatrical producer, claims our critics are overestimating the players from Moscow Art theater who have made quite a sensation in New York.

Brady champions the American stage as second to none in the world in the number of fine artists it has produced. He thinks the Moscow players look better largely because they come from abroad.

Psychologically this sounds plausible. Peculiar trait of Americans: Everything looks better at a distance. We have the world championship at panning ourselves.

RARE

A single postage stamp, issued by a postmaster before the first government postal issue in 1847, brings $631 at auction. It would have sold for $1750 if it hadn't had a crease and a too closely trimmed margin.

Yet the stamp itself is absolutely useless.

Value depends on utility, beauty, sentimental associations and—as in the case of the stamp—on rarity.

Tiger Overrated

The rhinoceros is a short-sighted beast, but his sense of smell is exceedingly keen. He will always chage a tiger on scent. He will not, however, clash with an elephant. The two big animals are shy of each other, although the rhinoceros is not a match for the elephant when the later coils up his trunk out of the way and goes at the other beast with his great tusks.

The tiger, on the other hand, is no match for a rhinoceros and will not fight back. He has no weapon strong enough. The tiger is not even a match for a water buffalo. His method of killing the largest animal he attacks—a bullock, for example—is to break its neck. Standing on his hind legs, he reaches one paw to the bullock's shoulder and the other to the lower thigh. Then taking the animal's neck in his jaw, he throws back his own head, jerking the neck of the bullock up and over cracking it.

Naturally, the tiger cannot do this with a rhinoceros nor make any impression on his thick hide. In a fight with a seladang, the tiger would not have a "look in." He gives both these animals a wide berth.

The tiger is far from being the powerful and fearless jungle beast he is supposed to be. Even though the leopard gets out of his way, two small leopards, I believe could finish a big tiger. They could do more biting and scratching in one minute than the tiger could in three.

Adventures of the Twins

Twins Turn to Statues

By Olive Roberts Barton

"Now you'll have to give us your magic ring," said Nancy to Jack Straw, the ruler of Mix-Up Land. "Your house is in little bits and you've no place to hide."

"All right!" agreed Jack so quickly that the Twins looked at each other in astonishment. He reached his hand toward his left thumb as though he were going to take the ring off, when suddenly he turned it and said:

"Gooseberry jam and blackberry pie,
King Even-Steven's no smarter than I,
Now good little ring, on the top of a mountain,
Turn Nick to a statue, make Nancy a fountain."

Before anybody could so much as wink an eyelid the work was done. Nick turned into a stiff white marble statue, and Nancy turned into a fountain in the center of a marble basin, water spouting out of the top of her head and falling down in sprays all about her.

At the same time the ground under them poked up until it became a mountain. There they were, high above the rest of the world. And there they were likely to stay.

But the Twins could still think and talk, which was some comfort.

"We'll nevet get Jack Straw's ring now," exclaimed Nancy. "What will the Fairy Queen think when she hears that we couldn't turn Mix-Up Land back into Apple-Pie Land?"

"I don't know," answered Nick in a worried voice, and the other mountains around caught the echo and repeated in worried voices, "We don't know!"

But Jack Straw hadn't thought of something when he turned Nancy into a fountain. He forgot that Mix-Up Land couldn't hold any more water.

And the water soon flowed over the edge of the basin and washed the moutain away. Then it washed all the other mountains away and ran all over the country and nearly washed it away too.

Everybody in it had to swim or climb a tree, and having a peg-leg, Jack Straw could do neither.

"Now what shall I do?" he cried.

"I believe I'm getting frightened."
